

Turmoil Engulfs South Vietnamese Election; Ky Threatens Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky is determined to destroy President Nguyen Van Thieu, sources close to Ky said Friday night. Informants said Ky, obviously angered by Thieu's decision to run as the lone candidate in the Oct. 3 presidential election, may be trying to provoke Thieu into an error of judgment.

The sources close to Ky, who cannot be named, said the vice president did not threaten a coup, and feels that if there is a confrontation by force it will be Thieu's responsibility.

Using the strongest language yet against his political archrival, Ky made his views known to a small gathering Friday night.

The development was only one element in the turmoil which engulfed the first official day of campaigning for the presidency.

Among the other developments:

—President Thieu fired the head of South Vietnam's 110,000-man national police force for "incompetence and inefficiency in dealing with riot control," official sources said. Thieu apparently foresees the possibility of widespread street demonstrations during the campaign and election period, they added.

—Eleven political parties and special interest groups joined in urging Thieu to resign and organize what they termed "a fair and honest election based on a new election law." Political circles said the 19 parties and organizations have no massive popular support, however, and are "controllable" as far as Thieu is concerned.

—Ky met Friday morning with a group of 20 Vietnamese journalists, and less than 12 hours before he took his blast at Thieu offered to act as a mediator among "nationalist" forces to solve the political impasse. Ky's position Friday night appeared to be a dramatic turnabout from the publicly conciliatory position he had taken earlier in the day.

Those present said: —Ky believes the next 30 days—the period of the presidential election campaign—will be the worst in South Vietnam's history.

—He feels that the situation is potentially more explosive now than in 1963, when the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem was overthrown, but at the moment lacks a fuse or detonator.

CROWN BEAR LAKE QUEEN

Crystal Dalrymple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dalrymple, won the title of Miss Bear Lake Friday during the Bear Lake Fair festivities. First runner-up was Lea Oviatt and second runner-up was Cindy Shamp. The talent program was also held and Sharon Sard won the grand prize for her abilities as a piano player. Second prize went to flutist Nora Morton, third to the Peace Pipers, a musical group, fourth to baton twirler Judy Evans and fifth to singer Jack Ireland. For more information on Labor Day program see story on Page 3.

Most Teachers Won't Get Pay Raises In Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council said Friday most teachers won't get pay raises this fall, including thousands previously thought eligible under earlier rulings on the wage-price freeze.

Council director Arnold R. Weber and Treasury Undersecretary Charles Walker spelled it out again at a news conference: teachers who worked, or were eligible to work, before Aug. 15 get their raises. Those who didn't don't.

Weber said the policy remains the same; the biggest impact of the rephrasing will be on teachers under systemwide contracts.

Officials in Montgomery County schools in Maryland, were told Aug. 26 that all teachers in the system would get higher pay because some employees had worked before Aug. 15 under a new wage scale, "activating" the contract for the rest.

"In a sense we've dropped that interpretation because it was mischievous," Weber said, calling it a "golden sheep" concept where one person pulls all the others through to a higher category.

The National Education Association, which had advised its 9,000 local affiliates to use the Montgomery County ruling as a go-ahead in similar contract situations, called Weber's statement "incredible."

"They have totally reversed themselves," said NEA counsel Robert Chanin, adding that perhaps the government tightened its policy when it learned from the NEA that perhaps 80 per cent of teachers would get more pay judging by council guidelines.

Chanin said it was hard to conceive the chaos Weber's statement will cause in schools where payrolls already are being computed on the higher salary schedules, on the assumption these are authorized since they are similar to the Maryland situation.

Weber told a news conference the council had never been confused about its intent to treat teachers the same as any other worker and had known all along most teachers wouldn't qualify for raises.

"Our policy has remained the same," Weber said. "The phrasing and the rhetoric was changed when we realized there was confusion."

Nixon Sees 'New Prosperity' For Americans

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon declared Friday night that his new economic policies will produce "a new prosperity for farmers and for all Americans—without inflation and without war."

Giving his program the title "New Prosperity" for the first time in a speech prepared for an audience of some 25,000 dairy farmers, the President outlined increased productivity and the spirit of the American people as key items in its success.

"Productivity holds the key to America's economic well-being," he said at a convocation of the Associated Milk Producers, Inc.

"Only by increasing productivity can we achieve a higher standard of living without rampant inflation at home. And only by increasing productivity can we win a stronger position over the long run in the marketplace and trading lanes of the world."

Nixon flew here on his way back to Washington for a weekend in which he plans a Labor Day radio address to the nation at noon Monday from his mountaintop retreat at Camp David, Md., where his new economic policies were hammered out. In making his appeal for support from the nation's farmers at the McCormick Place Convention Hall, Nixon declared "the heart of our nation's strength still lies in our nation's farms."

Noting that "productivity holds the key to America's well-being," he added "unfortunately, productivity has not been rising fast enough in much of our economy."

In the nonfarm sector, productivity has gone up by just over 150 per cent in the last 20 years, while farm productivity has gone up 300 per cent, Nixon said.

As a result, he said, "the American people are getting a great deal more value for their food and clothing dollar," and farm exports have reached a record high, "which has helped enormously with our over-all balance of trade."

At an earlier stop in Dayton, Ohio, Friday night, Nixon also called on Americans to display the spirit of American Aviation—"always striving to test the limits of what is possible" and one which "thrives when it is pursuing the unknown."

He made the comments in the hometown of the Wright Brothers where he honored the "spirit of American aviation" and joined in ceremonies dedicating a new $5.7 million Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

PROPOSED HATCH RUN ROAD PROJECT

This aerial photo by Gordon Mahan taken from a plane piloted by Harold Beach traces the course of the proposed improvement of Hatch Run rd. The black lines show the 5.37 mile project as it intersects Route 62 north on its western end and crosses Conewago Creek. It will intersect Scandia rd. on the east. Low bidder for the construction was A. E. O'Block Co. of Pittsburgh at $1,456,346. A spokesman for Franklin District of PennDOT said it is expected the contract will be awarded very shortly with work to start on or before Oct. 1. Two prestressed concrete bridges are also included in the project, the one crossing Conewago Creek marked in the photograph, the other to span Hatch Run.

Terrorist's Bullet Fatal To Baby Girl

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A terrorist bullet aimed at British soldiers Friday killed an 18-month-old girl as she and her sister pushed a doll carriage along a sidewalk in a Roman Catholic quarter, police reported.

Another bullet whipped through the skirt of the 7-year-old sister but she was not harmed.

Then as darkness fell, a rash of bombings hit Belfast. Three police officers and two civilians were wounded in a blast at the Royal Ulster Constabulary base in eastern Belfast. Bombs also went off at a betting shop and a grocery store.

The child killed in what police described as a volley of shots fired at British soldiers in the Lower Falls Road district was identified as Angela Gallagher, daughter of a Roman Catholic plasterer.

A police spokesman described the killing as "without the slightest shadow of doubt the work of the IRA"—the outlawed Irish Republican Army, accused by Northern Ireland's prime minister earlier of carrying out "sickening and indiscriminate violence."

The shooting was heard by Irene Toner who lives just opposite the spot where Angela died in the Lower Falls district.

"There was a lot of screaming and children were running everywhere," she said. "The next thing I knew, there was this little girl standing in front of me holding Angela in her arms."

"She wanted me to take the child but I just couldn't. I shall never forget the look on that baby's face. She was quite motionless. It was horrible."

Angela was the second victim claimed by a terrorist gunman

Friday. Earlier, a national guardsman was killed by shots at a border police station.

Their deaths swelled the two-year death toll in Northern Ireland's continuing strife to 96.

As the blue-eyed, blonde-haired infant died, the militant Provisional wing of the IRA warned the population to stay away from taverns, hotels and shops likely to be frequented by the British army and also from government offices.

Market Stages Surprise Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied Friday in an unexpected show of strength on the eve of the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The market usually marks time in the final session before a long holiday recess.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues spurted 12.05 points to 912.68, closing at its highest level of the session.

Wall Street analysts attributed the gain to a combination of factors, including hopes of a cut in commercial banks' prime lending rate, anticipation of a possibly encouraging report on the economy by President Nixon in his radio address on Monday and an increase in bond prices.

Big Board trading volume was moderate.

No Paper Monday!

There will be no paper Monday while most Times-Mirror and Observer employees observe the Labor Day holiday. Regular publication will resume on Tuesday.

In the past two weeks, the IRA has bombed the headquarters of the Northern Ireland Electricity Board, offices of the ruling Unionist party and other buildings causing one death and serious casualties.

Their statement Friday night indicated similar attacks were intended in their campaign to reunite Ireland with the Irish republic to the south.

The IRA statement followed a call by Prime Minister Brian Faulkner on Northern Irishmen to drive out the republican terrorists.

"There is no longer any excuse for equivocation about the IRA," said Faulkner in a statement clearly addressed to the provinces' Roman Catholic minority. "People must decide and must show clearly whether they are for or against the profound evil the IRA represents. The time has come for the communities in which such men operate to drive them out."

Demos Claim Nixon's New Policies Flawed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said Friday that America's unemployment rate bounced up again last month to 6.1 per cent, or 5.1 million jobless persons, just before President Nixon changed economic course.

The Democratic Party and AFL-CIO President George Meany said the figures show that Nixon's old policies failed and that his new ones are flawed.

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson said the figures were a perplexing mix of good news and bad, and called for Congress to enact the President's proposed tax cuts to stimulate the economy.

The jobless rate was about 3.5 per cent of the work force during the first months of Nixon's administration. It has hovered around 6 per cent since hitting a nine-year high of 6.2 per cent last December and again in May. It was 5.8 per cent in July.

August's increase in the number of persons out of work was 230,000, mostly men and teenage boys, and was caused mainly by layoffs in the steel industry, said the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

This was despite a rise in numbers of part-time working women that boosted the total of working Americans to a new high of 79.2 million, up 260,000 for the month. The total work force, which includes both jobholders and those seeking work, was also at a new high, 84.3 million.

The job figures were gathered in the week preceding Nixon's Aug. 15 announcement of a freeze on wages, prices and rents. The numbers are adjusted to compensate for normal seasonal variations, and are not actual counts.

In another set of figures, the bureau said earnings of some 45 million rank-and-file workers rose $1.43 a week to $129. The average weekly pay check is up $6.80 from a year ago, but the rising cost of living has cut that to $1.23 in terms of real buying power.

The pay figures also were gathered before the freeze.

Meany said that the jobless figures, coupled with Thursday's announcement that wholesale prices went up three tenths of one per cent in the month before Nixon's change, "prove, if any further proof is necessary, that Nixon's game plan number one was a disaster, and nothing persuades that his new game plan will do any better."

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said the unemployment figures "dramatize the most serious flaw in Mr. Nixon's recovery package." This, O'Brien said, is the President's proposal to give businessmen credit on their income tax for money spent to a "job development tax credit."

Defends FBI Probe Of News Leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers defended Friday an FBI lie-detector probe for the source of a suspected news leak and indicated the State Department was found innocent.

"I don't think there was a crime," Rogers told a news conference. "But on the surface it looked as if there might be."

He said divulging top secret information is a criminal offense and when that happens "the government has a responsibility to investigate."

But as for the State Department's policy of giving information to newsmen, he said he hopes "the policy of openness which is so essential to free nations... will be continued."

The Justice Department's investigation of a suspected security violation has set off some assertions that State Department officials are being intimidated against giving information to reporters.

It was disclosed Thursday that four State Department officials voluntarily took lie-detector tests for FBI agents who were trying to track down the source of information in a July 23 New York Times story. The Times account, by William Beecher, dealt with a U.S. proposal to the Soviets at the secret Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

Rogers did not confirm or deny that lie-detector tests were put to the U.S. diplomats.

OVER HOLIDAY

Safety Council Sees 500-600 Road Deaths

By The Associated Press
Millions of Americans got an early start Friday on the last three-day holiday weekend of the warm weather season.

The National Safety Council estimated that in the heavy traffic volume between 600 and 700 persons might be killed in automobile accidents. The period covered by the estimate was from 6 p.m. local time, Friday to midnight Monday, Labor Day.

Mail Girl Has Nice Zipcode

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pretty Kathy Shellhammer, Greensburg's only female mailman, not only has to watch out for dogs on her beat, she has to contend with wolves too—the whistling variety.

Clad in flowered bellbottoms and carrying a bulky mail sack instead of a shoulder bag, the 22-year-old makes her appointed rounds much to the delight of her customers and some truck drivers who can appreciate her 36-24-36 personal zipcode and her long hair.

She took the job because it was available and college students had a hard time finding jobs this year. She makes the 60-mile round trip to Westmoreland County daily and on occasion she has driven the post office's larger trucks and collected mail instead of delivering it.

The job hasn't affected her social life and it's got her parents' blessing. "They're happy I got a job," she said.

Next week she starts a term as a student teacher at Altoona. In December she is scheduled to graduate from Pennsylvania State University.

The only complaint is the mail sacks gets a little heavy sometimes. "And when I first started this job I was breaking in a new pair of shoes and you should never do that," she said.

$445 Damage

Heavy traffic conditions Friday morning contributed to a two-vehicle accident at 10:58 which resulted in damage totaling $445.

Borough police reported that a tractor-trailer driven by Eugene O'Neill, 275 Buchanan st., traveling north on South st., pulled into the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. east, made a right turn onto the avenue and struck a car parked at the south east curb owned by Louise E. Morgan, 10 Warren rd., Sugar Grove.

Nixon Remains Against Excess Profit Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is against a proposed excess profit tax, both during the remainder of his 90-day freeze on wages and prices and the second stage of his economic stabilization plan, a high White House official said Friday.

The official told a group of newsmen that there is "some ground to be plowed" in the area of interest rate controls after the freeze expires, but he indicated no decision has been made on whether restraints will be proposed for interest rates.

The official, whose name is withheld under ground rules of the briefing, said an excess profits tax as proposed and favored by organized labor is a "very poor form of taxation. It would be counter-productive to the basic objectives the President has laid down in his program."

He said profits are at a very low level now, adding that Nixon's action in freezing prices puts a clamp on profit margins.

Asked if the President is definitely opposed to the idea, the official said that while no formal administration position has been shaped, "I'm quite sure his attitude is negative on the point." He said Nixon was aware of arguments by economists that an excess profits tax is bad economic policy.

On interest rates, the official said Nixon's economic program announced August 15 has resulted in lower rates.

AEC Announces New Rules To Deal With Power Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission, bowing to a federal appeals court, began reconsidering Friday the environmental impact of 96 atomic power plants.

The review could force major alteration of some blueprints, or even of plants already in construction or in operation.

It appeared certain to delay processing of license applications as much as a year.

And 33 power plants already authorized, including five now in operation, face possible suspension pending the environmental review.

The reappraisal will be conducted under new regulations issued by the AEC Friday in compliance with a decision of the U.S. Court of appeals of last July 23.

Previous AEC rules had been challenged by conservationists in connection with commission

$2,800 Damage In Area Crash

State Police at the Corry Barracks reported two accidents Friday, one involving two cars, sent an Erie man to the Union City Hospital and the other, involving a car and a pedestrian, sent a Dewittville, N.Y. girl to Erie's St. Vincent Hospital.

The first accident occurred on Route 8 around 12:30 a.m. near Union City. A vehicle driven by Jean Zielinski, 53, of RD3, Union City, pulled from a private drive and into the path of a car driven by David Earl Frantz, 21, of Erie. The ensuing head-on crash left more than $2,000 damage to the Zielinski car and $800 damage to Frantz' vehicle. Both drivers were rushed to the hospital but only Frantz was retained there.

At 11:20 a.m. on the Wattsburg Fairgrounds a car driven by Richard Edwards, 30, of Titusville ran over Judy F. Lund, 20, of Dewittville, N.Y. Police said Miss Lund was sleeping on the ground near the Edwards car and the driver had not noticed her when he began to pull away.

She was rushed to St. Vincent's Hospital, said to be suffering from internal bleeding. Her condition was listed as satisfactory.

Three Cars Involved In Mishap

A three-car accident resulted in $450 damage around 1:30 p.m. Friday near the intersection of Pennsylvania ave. east and Russell st.

According to Officer James Urey of the Warren Borough Police Mary Bevevino, 58, of 210 McPherson st. was traveling south of Russell st. and had stopped at the intersection.

A car driven by Kathryn A. Ritter, 24, of 122 Canton st. was traveling west on Pennsylvania ave. east and had stopped in a line of traffic just east of the Russell st. intersection.

When Mrs. Bevevino noticed that the Ritter car had not moved into the intersection with the line of traffic she told Urey that she assumed Mrs. Ritter had stopped to let her pull out.

She pulled into the intersection and was almost immediately hit by a car driven by Murray H. Peterson, 52, who was traveling east on Pennsylvania ave. east. She then swerved to her left and collided with the Ritter car.

Damage to the Bevevino car came to $75, damage to the Ritter vehicle was estimated at $150 and damage to Peterson's car totaled $225.

No one was injured and charges have not been filed.

Baby Powder

'Dangerous'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Allegheny County Health Department has warned that a baby powder distributed in western Pennsylvania by Avon products contain bacteria potentially dangerous to children.

The health department said Thursday the powder should be destroyed or returned to sellers.

The powder is said to be particularly dangerous to very young children who have not built up a resistance to the bacteria, and could cause pneumonia.

approval of a Baltimore Gas and Electric Power Co. atomic plant at Calvert Cliffs, Md., on Chesapeake Bay.

The court said the AEC's "crabbed interpretation... makes a mockery" of the National Environmental Policy Act requiring federal agencies to consider environmental impacts in all their decisions.

The commission announced last Aug. 27 it would not contest the court's decision, but would revise its regulations to comply.

The revision requires the holders of atomic facility and materials licenses issued after Jan. 1, 1970, when the environmental act took effect, to submit within 60 days their own environmental impact studies or to update previous studies.

Holders of construction permits issued before Jan. 1, 1970, must follow the same procedure, if they have not yet been issued operating licenses.

The AEC must follow up with environmental appraisals of its own.

The plants in the most precarious position are those for which permits or licenses have been issued, but not operating licenses.

The regulation requires the commission to determine "whether the permit or license should be suspended, in whole or in part, pending completion of the... environmental review."

Cambodian Troops Kill 100 Enemy

BARAI, Cambodia (AP) — Using dive bombers and artillery to block their retreat, Cambodian troops killed at least 100 members of the North Vietnamese 205th Regiment Thursday at a road fork 65 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, an operations commander claimed here Friday.

"At first we were told there were 100 or so dead and wounded," declared Brig. Gen. Hou Hang Sin, over-all commander of the 20,000-man operation Thenchla Two. "But today we have found more than 100 bodies out there on the battlefield."

The general told reporters four battalions of the Cambodian infantry had tricked the enemy force into believing they were fleeing as a North Vietnamese force of about 800 men marched northward along the road toward the town of Kompong Thmar, seven miles north of his field headquarters in a pagoda yard at Barai. Kompong Thmar fell to the Cambodians Wednesday.

In reality, the general said, the Cambodian troops were pulling back to better positions.

What the Cambodians were seeking, Hou Hang Sin went on, was high ground to be about to pour fire on the North Vietnamese. In order to convince the enemy they were in full flight, he ordered the Cambodians to abandon the road fork, the general added.

"Then we blocked their retreat with barrage of bombs from aircraft and shells from my artillery," the general said. "The enemy had no choice but to accept the battle—on our terms."

Backs Into Car

A 26-year-old Sinclairville, N.Y. driver failed to close his trunk lid Friday evening and backed blindly into traffic on Pennsylvania ave. west, resulting in a two-car accident.

Officer Greg Munksgard of the Warren Borough Police said that Charles A. Rounds, 26, of Sinclairville had just placed some goods in his trunk while he was parked on the south side of Pennsylvania ave. west near the Liberty st. intersection.

Despite the fact that he failed to close his trunk lid, Rounds then backed into traffic and into the path of a car driven by Aurelie M. White, 45, of 400 East Fifth ave.

Damage to the Rounds car totaled only $10. The White vehicle suffered $75 damage.

2 Airlines Agree

On Merger Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Northwest Airlines and National Airlines announced Friday that they had reached agreement in principle on merger plans.

A spokesman for National Airlines said the merger would remain subject to adoption of a definitive agreement by directors of both lines as well as approval by stockholders and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Court Denies Casey Motion

HARRISBURG (AP) — Commonwealth Court has denied a motion by Auditor Gen. Robert P. Casey for a summary judgment against Property and Supplies Secretary Frank C. Hilton for allegedly refusing to make available certain records for auditing.

In its ruling Thursday the court indicated it wanted to hear arguments on the mandamus motion filed by Casey early last month.

Casey charged that Hilton has refused auditors access to state records pertaining to insurance, real estate leases and the Capitol police. Hilton denied the allegations.

The crux of the issue is this: At what point in time has the auditor general the right to inspect the state's books? The state Constitution forbids pre-audits but does not spell out exactly at what specific point the auditor general can begin an audit.

Irish Leader Refused Bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Cahill, Irish Republican Army leader detained by immigration authorities since he arrived here Wednesday, was denied bail Friday by a three-man federal appeals court.

The appeals judges upheld an earlier decision by District Court Judge Inzer Wyatt, who had ruled that only the attorney general could parole or grant bail to a detained alien.

Cahill, 51, had sought his freedom pending a scheduled Sept. 7 hearing on the revocation of his U.S. visa by the Immigration Department. The State Department said the visa was lifted upon Cahill's arrival at Kennedy Airport because he was a convicted felon—having served seven years in prison for killing a policeman.

New Car Sales Boom

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. new car sales boomed in the final 10 days of August, described by industry observers as the first real testing ground of car buyers' reaction to President Nixon's wage-price controls.

Sales reports of the four domestic auto firms—General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors—showed sales ran about 20 per cent ahead of those in the final days of August, 1970.

Foreign car makers also shared in the sales surge as many—including Volkswagen, Toyota, Datsun, British-Leyland and Mercedes Benz—grabbed off a larger number of sales.

The 10-day reports by the American auto makers had been awaited eagerly by industry observers as a tipoff on consumers' car buying plans during the Nixon economic control period.

Floods Leave 10 Million Homeless

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Floods that swept away entire villages left 10 million persons homeless Friday as new areas of West Bengal came under water, state officials reported.

The flooding Ganges and its tributaries, swollen by steady monsoon rains, were still rising in West Bengal six weeks after the first flood waters surged over river banks.

Officials put the death toll at 70.

The latest area to be hit was Nadia district, about 50 miles northeast of Calcutta near the border with East Pakistan.

Officials said if the rivers keep rising at the present rate, Krishnagar town, headquarters of Nadia district, will be cut off soon.

Rogers Still Sees Promise In South Vietnam Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — The one-man South Vietnamese presidential election still holds promise as an expression of democracy, according to Secretary of State William P. Rogers, although "we are disappointed there wasn't a contest."

Rogers told a Friday news conference he wanted to put the election "into perspective" and as a matter of explanation pointed to President Nguyen Van Thieu's promise to regard the Oct. 3 voting as a referendum on his administration.

"We would hope that the referendum... will take place and that the public will have an opportunity to express their choice," Rogers said.

He also told questioners that lack of the "fair and contested" race sought by the United States would not result in a withdrawal of American economic and military aid from the Saigon government.

"As far as the policy of this government is concerned," Rogers said, "we are going to continue it. We think it's a successful policy."

In his first unrestricted meeting with newsmen since June 15, the secretary was quizzed most about Vietnam and the FBI investigation of news leaks within the government. But he also was asked about several other matters, including China and the United Nations.

He announced in July the United States would support admission to the United States of the Communist Chinese government, while seeking continued membership for the nationalist government on Taiwan. Since then the United States has consulted with 90 other nations, Rogers said.

He repeated that the U.S. position on a Security Council seat for the Peking government has not been determined but "we do find that there is a good deal of support for having the Security Council seat go to the mainland regime."

Rogers had said in July the United States would abide by the U.N. majority wishes in the Security Council matter.

As to the American hope for a seat in the world body for both Chinese governments, Rogers said Friday:

"It's interesting to me that in our discussions with other nations, we find that the public opinion in most of the countries supports the idea of dual representation in the United Nations."

In other areas Rogers said: —The signing of the four-party treaty on Berlin "brings to a successful close the first phase of a difficult but diligent allied effort."

"We have not firmed up our position" on a joint reduction of western and eastern forces in Central Europe nor decided whether such action would be tied in with a possible European security conference. "We are prepared to consider both," he said.

—The attempts to bring about an interim Mideast settlement by opening the Suez Canal are not deadlocked. "... it hasn't been achieved yet, but we have no reason to be discouraged."

Mother, Son Plead Guilty To Bigamy

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "I suppose this reads like 'Oedipus Rex' or something out of a soap opera, but it's actually a tragedy," said one of the attorneys for a mother and son who married each other and have pleaded guilty to bigamy.

"I felt this was actually a tragedy," George H. Lerg II, a defense lawyer appointed by the court, said Friday.

The mother, Rebecca Slater, 41, and her son, Syley Gipson Kitzmiller, 23, married each other while Mrs. Slater was still married to Kitzmiller's father.

Mrs. Slater was sentenced Thursday to six months in county jail. Kitzmiller was sentenced to a nine-month term and fined $500 for administrative costs. Both were placed on three years probation.

The two, who have a 2-year-old daughter, pleaded guilty to charges of bigamy Aug. 16. Incest charges were dropped at that time.

In sentencing the pair, Superior Court Judge William P.

Mahedy said, "This is a serious crime—a felony. This man lived with his own mother and married her. I don't see any extenuating circumstances."

Lerg told the court Kitzmiller was given up for adoption to a couple in North Hollywood, Calif. after being born to the then 17-year-old Mrs. Slater and her husband, Michael Slater, now 52.

Then in 1968 Slater invited Kitzmiller to visit them and their other five children in National City, just south of San Diego.

"His only crime was falling in love with a total stranger who unfortunately happened to be his natural mother," Lerg said.

18 Sentences Handed Down In Court Friday

By BETTY RICE

Judge Robert L. Wolfe in sentencing 18 defendants Friday morning, reviewed past records of several of the offenders from pre-sentence reports prepared by the Warren County Probation department. Edwin Larson Jr., of 2101 Pennsylvania ave. west, Warren, charged with turning off lights to avoid identification after he was involved in a chase with borough police at 4:35 a.m. Aug. 7 was advised by the judge that "your face is very familiar before this court and you're showing up too often." The court noted this was Larson's sixth offense of one kind or another and sentenced the defendant to pay costs, $100 fine and serve seven days in jail. Failure to pay costs and the fine will mean an additional 20 day jail sentence.

Darrell Blakeslee of Youngsville, charged with driving during suspension was ordered to pay costs, a fine of $200 and serve three days in jail. Judge Wolfe stated that Blakeslee had 10 prior violations of the Motor Vehicle Code since Dec. 1965.

William F. Barnes of Tidouite, charged with loitering and prowling as a result of an incident on North Pine st. about 3:30 a.m., July 16, was sentenced to pay costs, $150 fine and one month in jail. His pre-sentence report showed a past record of disorderly conduct, shoplifting and 32 camp burglary charges.

James Sorvelli, 14 S. South st. Warren, charged with driving under the influence, was ordered to pay costs, $150 fine and serve 10 days in jail. An additional 30 day sentence will be imposed in default of payment of costs and fine.

Robert W. Proctor, 18, of Irvine, appeared for sentencing on a charge of driving during suspension. The court reminded the defendant that up until 1971, he had chalked up 22 violations of the motor vehicle or criminal code and as of this year had admitted about five criminal offenses. Proctor is presently in Warren County jail in lieu of bail on a burglary charge. Judge Wolfe said it would serve no useful purpose to impose sentence Friday morning but that the suspended sentence would run concurrently when Proctor is sentenced for burglary.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Donalene Wilcox, Jamestown, N.Y., charged with selling liquor without a license, Judge Wolfe suggested she was a victim of circumstance and wondered if the right person was being sentenced. It was noted that the particular club where the liquor (beer) was served by the defendant had no license and had been closed down several times by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. Mrs. Wilcox received the minimum sentence to pay costs and $100 fine.

Larry E. Greathouse, charged with driving during suspension and found guilty in a jury trial Aug. 11, was ordered to pay costs and a $300 fine before leaving the court or serve 30 days in jail. Noting six previous violations, the judge told Greathouse he "had very little respect for the motor vehicle code."

Dennis J. Massa, RD 1, Clarendon, charged with being an accessory after the fact in a felony, was sentenced to pay costs, $500 fine and serve from one month to two years in jail. The jail sentence was suspended and Massa placed on probation. Larry Kemery, Pittsfield, charged with forgery, who had appeared before Judge Wolfe on another charge last year, was sentenced to pay costs and serve four months in jail. The jail sentence was suspended and the defendant ordered to make full restitution ($40) to the victim within two months or serve the balance of the sentence.

Three Erie men, Gary M. Walsh, Emmett Lombard and George Thoreson, formerly charged with burglary, had the charged reduced to malicious mischief and were ordered to pay costs and a $50 fine. Failure to make payment will result in a five day jail stay for each. Other sentences imposed

ALABAMA GOVERNOR

Steps Up Anti-School Desegregation Campaign

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer
Gov. George C. Wallace stepped up his campaign against school desegregation Friday while schools across much of the South quietly adjusted to broadened integration achieved by busing.

Alabama state legislators said Wallace would not hesitate to use state troopers to transfer seven white girls from an otherwise all-black elementary school near Montgomery.

The legislators told the Montgomery County Board of Education that Wallace would use the troopers to insure the white children were sent to a predominantly white school.

Wallace was not available for comment. The legislators said Wallace agreed to withhold action until the board could get a hearing before U.S. District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson, whose integration order assigned the white pupils to the predominantly black Pinthala Elementary School in Hope Hull.

Board attorneys said they would meet with Johnson but would not request the white children be transferred from Pinthala.

The children's parents told Wallace they want the girls to go to school in Montgomery, 10 miles away. Pinthala is five or six miles from their homes.

A score of Southern School districts are under federal court orders to end segregation fostered by urban housing patterns. About 150,000 pupils are

Merv Griffin Wants Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Merv Griffin has asked CBS to release him from his contract as host of the network's late-night talk show, a Griffin spokesman said Friday.

The spokesman said a story in the trade newspaper Hollywood Reporter that Griffin wanted out of his contract was "substantially true."

Metromedia Producers Corp. said Friday that it has been negotiating with Griffin for a syndicated talk show. Griffin is said to be considering the offer.

CBS said, "Mr. Griffin is under contract to CBS. The decision with regard to picking up his next option doesn't come until mid-December."

The Hollywood Reporter said Griffin, whose contract runs until Feb. 15, wants out by Dec. 31.

Big 4 Sign Berlin Pact

BERLIN (AP) — Divided Berlin entered a new era in its postwar history Friday with the signing of a Berlin agreement intended to end the period of confrontation and bring some tranquility to Central Europe.

The accord, reached and signed by the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, was the first formal agreement concluded on Communist-surrounded Berlin since the four nations' victorious armies carved up the prostrate German Reich at the close of World War II.

It held out promise of reduced East-West tension and an improved life for inhabitants of the divided city, which has been the scene of several major power crises and of countless personal and family troubles.

The pact, while not doing away with the 10-year-old Communist-built Wall splitting East Berlin from West Berlin, outlines procedures for allowing West Berliners to move more freely to the outside world and into East Berlin to conduct business and visit relatives and friends.

Authorities from East and West Germany are to begin negotiating details Monday along guidelines offered by the four-power pact. Each side wanted the best possible position at the outset, leading to a German translation dispute that held up the signing for a day.

Based on the German language version released by both East and West Germany, it was apparent the West German side had relented to speed the signing. The salient difference was over what in the English language text was called "transit traffic." Free movement to and from West Germany, 110 miles away, across fast Germany, was a main goal of the West.

The West Germans wanted "transit traffic" translated as "through traffic." This would mean moving through Germany as a whole though over East German roads, waterways and railroads.

The Communist side wanted "transit traffic" literally translated, and that is the term that appears in the German text. It underscores the East German claim that West Berlin is separate from West Germany and that traffic through its territory goes through another sovereign state.

Crew Foils Hijack Try; 4 Injured

MIAMI (AP) — A young Cuban refugee from Illinois tried to hijack an Eastern Airlines jetliner with an icepick Friday. He stabbed at least two employees before being overpowered by airline employees and passengers.

The FBI said Juan Miguel Borges Guerra was overpowered and bound by crewmembers and passengers aboard the Boeing 727 en route from Chicago to Miami with a final destination of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Eastern reported a total of four persons were injured, including stewardess Lana Dahlstrom who suffered a wrenched arm and deadheading Capt. Newt Edwards who received lacerations on his left wrist.

Kenneth Whittaker, special agent in charge of the FBI at Miami, said the attempt took place about 20 minutes outside of Miami International Airport on EAL Flight 993.

An Eastern spokesman said the jet, carrying 74 passengers and six crewmen, was about 20 miles out of Miami when the would-be hijacker put an icepick to the throat of stewardess Dahlstrom and demanded she tell the pilot, Capt. Roger Gustafson, they go to Havana.

Injunction Blocks Area Rock Festival

BUTLER, Pa. (AP)—An injunction blocking a rock festival scheduled for Sunday on an old farm in Brady Township, was issued Friday.

However an injunction sought to halt plans for a weekend music festival in Clearfield County was dissolved with the understanding that certain provisions in protection and sanitation be followed by the group holding the festival.

Judge George P. Kiester, president jurist of the Butler County courts, handed down the decision which stopped Mushroom-Two following two days of hearings.

An undercover state police trooper testified he had attended Mushroom-One last May and estimated that between 30 and 40 per cent of those attending were using drugs.

He said he was approached twice to buy LSD.

The injunction was sought by Brady Township officials. Named as plaintiffs were the owner of the farm, Alfred T. Michaels, of Grove City and the promoters, John Balmer, Gerald Babyak, James Scilla and Larry Yost, all of Slippery Rock.

In Clearfield County, officials dissolved the injunction after a three hour hearing, but stipulated that the group holding the festival must have adequate medical, water and sanitation facilities, controlled parking and adequate police protection.

No intoxicants are to be sold. Members of the group, which has no name, contended they never had a rock festival planned, just a get together of about 300 friends and acquaintances for a Labor Day party.

AT BEAR LAKE

Holiday Fair Opens Today

The annual Bear Lake Labor Day Fair will feature attractions for the whole family today and Monday. Rides, games, prizes, exhibits and contests are slated for the weekend, which started with a flourish — the crowning of Miss Bear Lake last night.

Today's events are scheduled as follows: 1 p.m. men's horse pull, 4 p.m. Kiddy Day (rides are discount prices) bicycle give-away; 2 p.m., wig style show given by Mrs. Mary Groter, North Clymer, N.Y.; (also to be held Monday); candle making exhibition also to be held Monday in the fair building by Mrs. Paul Teeter, Corry; 7 p.m. pony pull.

Labor Day events: 10 a.m. parade; 1 p.m., tractor pull open to rubber-tired farm tractors only (six classes); 3 p.m. baby show open to all babies one year old or younger; 6 p.m. garden tractor pull; 8 p.m., auction, with a special award, a 1971 Ford pickup truck, to be given away. The fair will close with a grand fireworks finale.

Located across from the Bear Lake Firehall, the fair building offers garden and home exhibits at all times and rides will operate non-stop. For children, Mother Goose Land, has been added specially this year.

Senger Promoted To Rank Of Master Chief In USNR

Master Chief Petty Officer James Senger, 123 Loomis st., Warren, was promoted this month to his current rank in the 3-68 Division of the Naval Reserves, Jamestown, N.Y. He has been assigned as senior enlisted advisor to the commanding officer on all matters pertaining to enlisted personnel.

Senger will complete his annual tour of active duty at disease vector control schools, and his technical training at naval hospitals or afloat during fleet training operations.

After graduation from Warren Area High School, he enlisted in the Navy in June, 1941. Following basic training at Newport, R.I., Senger was attached to the Naval Hospital in Newport until February, 1942.

The chief petty officer was then assigned as an operating room technician to Mobile Hospital No. 5 in New Caledonia, South Pacific, until 1943 and transferred to independent medical duty aboard a mine sweeper for the operations off Solomon and Russell islands.

He was attached to the U.S.S. Valencia, an attack cargo ship for the invasion of Okinawa, and released from active duty in October, 1945.

While in active duty, Senger served under two Warren doctors, Dr. Robert Donaldson and Dr. Gail Hamilton.

He enlisted in the Naval Reserve Surface Division in Jamestown in 1951 and in 1968, was promoted to Senior Chief Petty Officer.

In 1947, the officer graduated from the Franklin State School of Science as a medical laboratory and x-ray technologist. He is currently employed at the Warren State Hospital as an x-ray, electrocardiogram and electroencephalograph technician.

Postal Hours

Warren Postmaster Frank A. Fago has announced that Labor Day weekend postal service will be provided as follows:

There will be normal delivery, window, lockbox and special delivery service today. The exception will apply to collection service which will be limited to collection by residential carriers during delivery, lobby drops and downtown collection boxes.

On Sunday, September 5, 1971, normal Sunday service will be provided with the exception that collection service will be limited to lobby drops, collection boxes at the post office and downtown arterial collection boxes. All "airmail" boxes will be serviced to meet established airmail standards.

There will be no window or mail service on Monday, September 6. However, special delivery will be provided and regular holiday lockbox service will be maintained. Holiday collection will be provided for all collection boxes and "air-mail only" boxes.

MASTER CHIEF SENGER

James Senger Jr.

Senger is a member of the following organizations: Warren Elks Lodge, V.F.W., the All-American Parade and Judging Association. He is also a licensed practical nurse in the state of Pennsylvania.

Moral Standards

How serious is America's moral degradation? Deep enough, for Congressman Charles E. Bennett of Florida to introduce a resolution to have "morals and ethics" taught in our schools at an added expense to the taxpayer. Things have reached a sad state of affairs in this country if we have to confine students in classrooms to teach them the fundamentals of decent living. And if our youth are indulging in extreme conduct and moral anarchy it must be admitted that a previous "Peyton Place" generation is more than a little responsible for their waywardness.

It was this generation that scoffed at the morals and ethics of their forebears, denying that a man's word can be his bond, that premarital sex could only lead to trouble, that fidelity was the basis of a successful marriage, and classed the Golden Rule as an archaic bit of nonsense.

While a return to the precepts which made our society viable is certainly desired, it is quite doubtful that "morals and ethics" can be treated as a textbook subject and produce a cultural revolution. Our kids are not that gullible.

What is really needed is closer adherence to moral and ethical codes by those of us whose examples they follow. Parents should check their own behavior pattern, encourage religious associations, and be less permissive than is the general rule today.

And, as we know from our personal experiences, teachers can wield tremendous influence without being the recipient of a degree in social behavior. Time was, before specialization in education became the "in" thing, when every teacher was as concerned with a student's social values as with his abilities in respect to the 3-R's, perhaps even more so.

Present moral and ethical standards undoubtedly pose a definite threat to our highly acclaimed "American way of life," and changes are called for. As Mr. J. Grimond, a member of the English Parliament stated, "A society that runs on a system that makes no effort to come to terms with morality will always be unsatisfactory, and may become unmanageable."

We, who should be most concerned with the words of this English statesman, should take heed.

IN THE NATION

No Other Answer

By Tom Wicker

(c) N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — As the public schools open for the fall term, busing continues to be both a scare word and a straw man for those who are opposed to or dubious about desegregation. Busing also continues to be the only real hope for achieving substantial desegregation in the North and the larger cities of the South, and it is therefore potentially one of the most important instruments for improving American education.

There are limited grounds for optimism. In the South, busing plans in numerous cities will bring to less than 8 per cent of their total the number of black pupils who will be in all-black schools. Even where George Wallace has been breathing fire and nonsense, the old spirit of massive resistance is reported lacking.

Even in the North, under various forms of legal and political pressure, a nascent attack on so-called de facto segregation can at last be discerned. In Boston, for example, the school board has yielded to the state's threat to withhold $21 million in education funds and has pledged a policy that will eliminate black-majority schools by 1973.

But a national survey by John Herbers of the New York Times also disclosed mounting resistance outside the South. Clearly, the promise implicit in the desegregated schools that busing — and almost nothing else — can bring is not understood by many of those most affected. They range from the irate residents of San Francisco's Chinatown, who want to retain the particular ethnic character of their community, to those who blew up 10 of the school buses that have been used for years in the largely segregated school system of Pontiac, Mich.

To some extent, the Supreme Court's mandate in the Charlotte, N.C., and other school cases may have been misunderstood or misapplied. Chief Justice Burger was at pains to point out on Tuesday that the court had called for "the greatest possible degree of actual desegregation, taking into account the practicalities," rather than for inflexible racial balance in every school, no matter what the obstacle.

More resistance and confusion predictably has been brought on by President Nixon's assault, last Aug. 3, on busing programs and his strong orders to H.E.W. Secretary Elliot L. Richardson to use busing only "to the minimum required by law." Richardson now says that is his policy, too, and was all along, although no one could have known it from the activities of his department.

Neither Nixon nor Richardson has made the slightest effort to calm fears or correct misconceptions, much less to try to evoke the generosity, courage and idealism of the American people.

What one of them ought to have said, however, has been stated with courage and eloquence by a man who had reason to fear the wrath of his constituency. On Aug. 28, at University of Florida commencement exercises, Governor Reubin Askew of that state called on its people to rise to the moment.

"You graduates, faculty and parents here tonight," he said, "come from virtually every county in Florida. Most of you are products of public education.

"You have the ability and the opportunity to encourage reason and calm in your own communities in the days ahead... you have the ability and the opportunity to seek the broad community desegregation and cooperation which ultimately will make busing unnecessary. I sincerely hope you will do that..."

"For busing — certainly — is an artificial and inadequate instrument of change. Nobody really wants it — not you, not me, not the people, not the school boards — not even the courts. Yet the law demands, and rightly so, that we put an end to segregation in our society.

"We must demonstrate good faith in doing just that. We must stop inviting by our own intransigence, devices which are repugnant to us. In this way and in this way only, will we stop massive busing once and for all.

The Reader Speaks

Dear Sir:

If positive action is not taken to block the ridiculous Warren bypass plan, the greatest cause of air pollution extant in this nation will be heavily concentrated in our valley. No matter how you draw the lines on the map, you are not bypassing a community when it is located in a narrow valley and the traffic is moved a couple of city blocks one way or another, and in some cases cuts right through the borough's borders.

Ours is a valley of heavy fogs. It can become a vale of smothering smog as population and vehicle emissions multiply. Those with heart trouble or respiratory problems will find this a very unhealthy community in which to reside or work, if the noxious fumes of ever-increasing traffic are allowed to accumulate here.

A look at the map will reveal that Route 6 can be taken straight across from the Corry area to the dam, north of Warren, and directly from the dam to Smethport without the present dippy-doodle to the south, and we really would be bypassed. Clear, flat land, not heavily populated, where fumes will be dissipated and blow away is a better approach to pollution control than the present intention to concentrate car and truck emissions in a valley housing over 20,000 people.

The present plan does not keep the north-south flow out of Warren. Instead, it will explode the ever-expanding rush of heavy vehicles along an artery on which are located many civic buildings, churches, and an elementary school, namely Market Street.

There is nothing lost in the completed highway from Youngsville to Warren, an improvement long overdue and needed no matter where Route 6 ends up. Alterations to the West Side airport property have not eliminated its great value to Warren with many appropriate uses coming to mind. The recreation changes made there are useful, and many acres of valuable property remain which can be utilized by Warren for a variety of attractive purposes. The airport belongs elsewhere.

We now need improved entries to Warren at both the east and west terminals, and have needed them for many years. We also must improve the road from Warren to the dam if the traffic is to be handled.

If Route 6 then is taken north of us as suggested, the total cost will be far less than that involved in the pollution-ridden plan now being stalled at every turn, including efforts by those who are concerned with the good health of the river's piscatorial inhabitants. How about a similar amount of concern for the humans on the surrounding dry flats whose numbers will increase even as the traffic grows?

More people, more cars, more trucks, more poison. And we sit idly by! The cost of this highway extravaganza in tax dollars and our poor health represents a combination that should not be ignored by the residents of this valley. The solution is simple and less expensive than the problem — a bypass that doesn't.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — We recently told how four congressional leaders helped a Louisiana shipbuilder badger the Navy for $73.5 million in unsubstantiated claims.

Henry "Zack" Carter, the genial president of Avondale Shipyards, claimed the Navy owed him more money for 10 destroyers he had built. Yet he cavalierly refused to furnish the required proof.

Nevertheless, he almost squeezed $73.5 million out of the Navy — thanks to the political wallop of House Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, Senate Appropriations Chairman Allen Ellender and Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long, all Louisiana Democrats.

Only the stubborn opposition of a civilian watchdog, Gordon Rule, kept the Navy from paying the unproved claims. Now Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the scourge of the Pentagon, has taken an interest in the case and will hold hearings.

Meanwhile, we have studied a sheaf of highly secret Navy memos, which charge: The Louisiana shipyard purposely underbid to get the contract for the destroyers, then hit up the Navy for an additional $151 million. This was trimmed down to $73.5 million, which the Navy was about to pay before Rule intervened.

The Navy privately helped Avondale to document some of its claims, which is a little like the prosecutor helping the defendant prepare his case.

It will take at least a year's paperwork before the Navy can weed the legitimate from the unwarranted claims. Yet Avondale brought "unreasonable outside pressures on the Navy" for a quick settlement.

Although 7 of the 10 destroyers are "poor quality," Avondale has insisted on making a handsome profit on them.

SECRET REPORT

In a secret report dated last July 23, Rule explained bluntly why he wouldn't approve the claims. Avondale, he wrote, "has refused to prepare certain manhour breakdown." The contractor "has definitely not carried the burden of proof of his claimed items." Indeed, some claims are "Spurious and unwarranted."

At least one claim was documented, but Rule charged: "There is clear evidence that the contractor's claim... was documented by the (Navy) engineer—not the contractor."

After underbidding to get the contract, the shipyard would file large claims, then "threaten to stop work," until the claim was paid, Rule alleged.

"As one claim theory would get show down, a new proposal would shift to a new theory," he reported. Avondale's arguments were "prepared, broached and processed by highly-paid special claim nurturing legal and accounting combines."

Rule's conclusion: "The message must be transmitted to all claim-minded contractors and individuals that there is no short cut to their burden to prove every dollar claimed."

Rear Adm. Nathan Sonenshein, the Naval Ships commander, seemed more impressed with the congressional pressure than with Rule's objections. He assigned a deputy, Rear Adm. K.L. Woodfin, to review Rule's report.

But Woodfin, a tough salt trained under vineyard Adm. Hyman Rickover, submitted not a whitewash but a verification of Rule's finding.

Woodfin agreed that Avondale's claims were "inadequate... unsound... inconsistent... unsupported... limited... deficient... (and) lack of substantiation."

Footnote: Admiral Sonenshein said he endorsed the $73.5 million settlement not because of the political pressure but because Avondale was in "serious financial straits" and the Navy needed the ships. "Zack" Carter politely declined any comment. And Rule, just hot on the telephone as he is in his memos, demanded to know: "How in the hell did you get that thing? Let the record show it didn't come from me." It didn't.

NO LADIES ALLOWED

Gulf and Western, the giant conglomerate which hauled in $1.6 billion last year producing and peddling everything from sugar to movies, recently moved into a spanking new building in New York City and established an exclusive luncheon club off limits to women.

In a private memo to 20 corporate bigwigs, President David Judelson declared: "The intention of the Gulf and Western Luncheon Club is to keep it as much as possible a men's eating club. Therefore, only when having lunch with outside parties, whose group may include a female executive, will women be considered acceptable as luncheon guests."

A spokesman told us that the corporation was trying to confine the club to executive personnel and that only one Gulf and Western executive was female.

"She can use the luncheonroom," he promised. Later, he called back to say the corporation had 14 ladies at the New York headquarters who could be called executives.

ON THE RIGHT ...

Governor Reagan The Revolutionary

By William F. Buckley Jr.

The increasing cost in welfare subsidies is a factor in the current economic confusion which will take years to fully understand. Many of the maxims we feed on are rooted in the assumption of up pressures and down pressures. When prices are too high (up pressure), we buy less (down pressure). When unemployment increases (up) wages diminish (down).

What has never been sufficiently integrated in these arrangements is the role that welfare plays. If, as is so widely contended, welfare is a "right," not an emergency beneficence by the majority on the minority, then the down pressures substantially diminish. I think of someone, known to a correspondent, who is engaged in a strike against his employer. He is receiving welfare and, in addition, is moonlighting in another job. The (down) pressures on him to return to work are insubstantial. Meanwhile, the rise in common welfare costs are beyond the common imagination, and resentment and bitterness result as the producing members of society are taxed and surtaxed to look after the non-producing members of society, many of whom are employable.

There was recently a dramatic confrontation on the subject. The scene is the summer White House. The principals are: The President, Governor Ronald Reagan and for Health, Education and Welfare, John Veneman.

The Governor is asking the President for his cooperation. In recent weeks, Reagan has wrested from the legislature in Sacramento its consent to experiment with welfare modes in various parts of California. In the demonstration areas, a prime roster will be drawn up of citizens whose welfare needs are permanent, or semi-permanent (the blind, the crippled, the very old). Now a second roster is composed — of people who are not in the first roster, but who apply for welfare. They must first present themselves for work in a county-managed enterprise. No work, no welfare.

The psychological difference is immense between the Reagan plan and others which empower the welfare-distributing arm to require work after someone has been put on welfare. Such a law (for instance) has been on the books in New York City since 1965, and is a dead letter. People get on welfare — and then, somehow, nothing happens.

A participant in the summit conference at San Clemente interjected that the California plan might well be attempted simultaneously in Illinois and New York, and if that were to happen, the assumption would spread like wildfire that welfare isn't a right. To which the President is said to have replied: I don't believe that welfare is a "right." Those who get welfare should be prepared to work, if they can. The subsequent meeting between Mr. Veneman and the press did less than lucidly to communicate the position of the Nixon Administration on this critical point.

Meanwhile, extraordinary things are happening in California. Up until a few months ago, 50,000 Californians per month were being added to the welfare rolls. Under the Reagan barrage, during the last four months, there has been a decrease of approximately 20,000 per month. The average cost of welfare per person is $56 (paid — roughly — one-half by federal taxes, one-third by state taxes, one-sixth by county taxes). Fifty-six dollars times 80,000 is four and one-half million dollars — the monthly saving at this rate.

Add, if you like, what it would have cost if the trend had continued. Add, then, what would be saved if other states did the same thing. Add — if your exuberance is dogged — the value of the work that would be done by those who are able to work. What you get is a social revolution.

Will it be known as the Reagan Revolution? Or will Mr. Nixon coopt it, as the saying goes? Perhaps Mr. Kissinger should prepare to travel to Sacramento?

ART BUCHWALD

Crawl, Buzz Or Bite

WASHINGTON — This summer four of the big movie hits have been "Willard," "Blue Water, White Death," "The Andromeda Strain" and "The Hellstrom Chronicle." The first picture is about rats, the second picture is about sharks and the last two are about bugs.

Whether it is a sign of the times or not, Hollywood once again is panicking and the word is out at the studios to buy anything for films that crawls, buzzes or bites.

A friend of mine just returned from the film capital and reported that he was in the office of one of the major producers when the following took place:

The assistant came in. "B.J., I just got word from London we can have Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton for $1,000 a week and no expenses."

"I don't want Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, you dummy," B. J. shouted. "I want snakes."

"I've got the story department researching snakes now. Oh, William Morris Agency just called. They said they have a hot property that could make a bigger picture than 'Love Story.' In the end both the girl and the boy die."

"I don't want to make a love story. That's old hat. We need something that the public is clamoring for. Maybe roaches." "Roaches?"

"Why not? People are afraid of roaches. We could have them infected with some horrible disease and they take over the town."

"No, it's not scary enough." "What about boll weevils, Chief?" "Boll weevils don't do anything for me."

The phone rang and the assistant answered it. He held his hand over the mouthpiece. "It's Ann-Margret. You told her to call here today after you saw a screening of 'Carnal Knowledge.'"

The producer took the phone. "Ann, baby, you were beautiful. Those scenes in the apartment in the guy's bedroom were out of this world."

"No, I don't have anything for you now, but I'm trying to develop a story for the present market. Say, if I can get a good script would you have any objection to working with barracudas...? Yeah, that's what I said, man-eating barracudas... Ann... Ann... She hung up on me."

"B. J., John Wayne called and wants to know if you're interested in making a sequel to 'The Alamo.'"

"John Wayne doesn't mean anything. The public wants ants, buzzards, coyotes, wolves — mosquitoes. That's what they're buying. The other day I asked my own son if he wanted to see 'Le Mans' with Steve McQueen and he said no, he'd rather see 'Escape From the Planet of the Apes.' He won't go to a movie any more unless there is an animal or a germ in it. These are the people we must appeal to."

"It's hard to find properties, Chief. Paramount outbid us for a picture about 'Yellow Fever,' MGM is working on a film about the plague and 20th has just made the chief doctor of tropical diseases at the National Institute of Health head of the studio." The story editor walked in. "I think I've got it! I think I've got it!"

He threw a script on the desk. "It's what we've been looking for. This thing will scare the hell out of everyone."

The chief ruffled through the pages. "What's it about?"

The story editor smiled. "Vichyssoise."

LARRY STOTZ

Jerky And Pemmican

There is nothing new about jerky except its sudden popularity today. It comes in small cellophane bags, or may be purchased as "sticks" about six inches long, an inch wide and the thickness of cardboard. Bought by the "stick," it averages about $4.00 a pound. But it is all meat. There is no waste. It will keep almost indefinitely without refrigeration. It could save your life, if you were lost for days in the wilds, providing you had had the good sense to slip a few "sticks" of jerky into the pockets of your jacket before you set out.

Jerky requires no cooking and was once a staple food of the early pioneers and Indians. It was usually made from venison. The practice of making jerky from fresh meat was called "jerking." The meat was either sun-dried or it was smoked. It is highly nutritious, and being light in weight a large supply could be carried by a man on foot on a long journey into the wilderness.

Had it not been for the jerky carried on the Lewis and Clark expedition, these two early explorers of the West might not have survived the hard winter they encountered in Oregon. Four months they subsisted largely on jerky.

There is nothing very appetizing about the appearance of jerky. I have a "stick" of it before me as I write. It is brown and leathery looking, resembling a piece of an Indian's cast-off deerskin moccasin.

I have heard of starving men eating the leather from their boot tops in order to survive. Anyone accustomed to living off jerky could probably eat boot tops and stave off starvation.

Most jerky obtainable today is made of beef, and is processed in modern plants under careful supervision. The moisture-protein ratio of the jerky is constantly checked to assure that it doesn't exceed 0.75 to 1. Such a ratio means that the jerky will not need to be refrigerated.

When the Indians and pioneers made jerky it took 2 or 3 months for the natural curing process. Modern techniques in beef jerky processing plants have cut the curing time down to 24 hours.

I had my first experience with jerky when I was living in a log cabin at 11,000 feet above sea level in the New Mexico Rockies. One afternoon a Mexican rode up to the cabin on horseback, with a packhorse in tow. From his saddle bag he pulled out a couple of handfuls of mutton jerky — of the kind that I had seen covered with flies, and drying in the sun, in Mexican villages. Being a sheep herder at heart, I have always enjoyed mutton and lamb. And I particularly enjoyed this home-cured mutton jerky after having lived on bacon for weeks.

While pemmican can hardly be classed as a form of jerky, it served much the same purpose. It was an important food of the Plains Indians — particularly in winter when game was scarce. It was made of dried buffalo meat pounded into a powder. Then the powdered meat was mixed with hot fat. Berries were often added to improve the flavor. When the process was complete, the pemmican was cut into cakes. Often a supply of pemmican was packed in parfleche and buried to be dug up months later when the need arose.

If you had to choose between pemmican and jerky today, the chances are that you would pass up the pemmican. But even small quantities of pemmican could keep you alive for days, for it was one of America's first forms of concentrated foods. And like jerky it needed no refrigeration.

Safe Driving

Tips For Holiday

—Check the mechanical items on the car, including windshield wipers, lights, windshield washer, brakes, tires and tire pressure, battery and radiator.

—Be well rested before leaving for the trip.

—Always wear seat belts.

—Obey the speed laws and if travelling in unfamiliar areas, be prepared to cope with hidden hazards that might appear without warning.

—Be particularly cautious when roads are damp in the early morning, or after a rainstorm; highway grime becomes extremely slippery when wet.

—Never drink and drive.

—Stop periodically (every two or three hours) to give the driver and occupants a chance to move around and break the monotony of driving.

—Stop early. Most accidents during the 1970 Labor Day weekend occurred between 6 p.m. and midnight.

Adherence to these safety tips will assure a safer trip for all drivers and will also contribute measurably to the entire family's holiday pleasure.

Taxpayers

Ask IRS

Q) I own a farm and each year I permit my church to use a portion of my land for a picnic. Can this be considered a charitable contribution?

A) No. Merely permitting a charitable organization to use your property, as opposed to making a gift of the property, does not give rise to a deduction.

Q) What do I do about sending in Social Security taxes for the gardener I employ?

A) If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter, you are required to file a Form 942, Employers' Quarterly Tax Return, for Household Employees, pay social security taxes, and pay Federal income tax if he has requested you to withhold it and you have agreed.

Red carpet treatment awaits patrons of a new eating establishment—a pizzeria—due to open in Youngsville later this month. Red carpet has been laid, the ceiling has been lowered, indirect lighting installed and other improvements made to the East Main street premises which formerly housed the Mead and Hardenburg drug stores and Rizzo pizza shop. The premises have been empty for some time, but have now been leased by Mike Comitz and James Diehl, of Corry, where Mr. Comitz has operated a pizzeria for 10 years. Baking for both establishments will be done at the Youngsville premises. "We make all our own crusts," says Mr. Comitz, adding that his Italian wife Jean is the pastry-maker. The company will feature several other specialties in addition to pizzas and will provide both carry-out and table service. The restaurant will have seating for 24.

Mr. Comitz is already familiar locally as a wrestling referee.

Another new business will shortly make an appearance in Youngsville. Mrs. Elinor Northup is to open a health foods store, and is converting the front of her Railroad Street premises for the purpose. She will continue to operate at the rear of the building, the drycleaning business she has had there for the past 11 years. The new establishment will have an Early American decor.

whose appearance coincides annually with the start of a new school year, is being distributed to subscribers this week. As usual, its publication has been underwritten by several local business establishments whose names are featured along with a photograph of the Youngsville High School chorus. Meeting dates of area organizations and anniversaries of area residents appear throughout the calendar, making it a useful reference source.

Subscribers who have not yet received their copies, and others who would like one, should contact the music department at the Youngsville High School.

The Brokenstraw Valley Jaycees' questionnaire designed to discover the degree of local awareness of drug abuse and related problems, and availability of corrective measures, made its scheduled appearance in area mailboxes this week—within the cover of the Lutheran church parish newsletter. Saron and Berea Lutheran churches donated their mailing services for distribution of the survey.

The questionnaire is a duplicate of one developed by the Pennsylvania Jaycees Drug Abuse Committee, for circulation among member clubs. The Brokenstraw Jaycees, in completing their own copy for return to the state committee, discovered there were many facets of the subject that they were unaware of, and they felt the same might be true for the rest of the community. Hence the decision to send out the survey. Not all the questions are applicable locally, but they are all thought-provoking. The Jaycees hope a high percentage will be answered, and the forms returned to one of the appointed collection centers as soon as possible. Then they will follow up with a more direct and localized approach. Two other area service clubs have indicated interest in the project.

Paul Lind is the project chairman.

Last chance to swim at the Brokenstraw Valley pool this season will be on Labor Day. No special events are scheduled for the holiday weekend. Regular hours will be observed, weather permitting—1 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

SHRUBBERY FOR VO-TECH SCHOOL

Six pieces of shrubbery were delivered Thursday to the county's new vo-tech school as a gift from Tomassoni & Sons of Warren. The gift included two red maples, two white birch lumps and two upright yews. Shown here accepting the gift is Samuel Marek, the school's director. (Photo by Mansfield)

Conversational Counseling And Compost

By Bernie Wingert, County Agent

Wednesday, we went to Sate College to the Agricultural Progress Days. It was an excellent show that included everything from sheep sheared by chemicals, to apple trees growing like grape vines, and cabbage harvesters tossing cabbage heads faster than Vida Blue's two, three pitch.

Progress Days have been held in all sections of the state in years past, but this one was enormous in scope because it included Penn State's Research Farms. The work going on at the farms alone is enough to take several days to see.

Particularly interesting were the signs describing what we were looking at. I'm told there were 1,147 of them. That's one lot of signs to paint!

A combination of buses and tractor drawn wagons hauled the people to see what was happening at the Agronomy research farms, and at the Horticulture Center and a Conservation Tour. The biggest problem of the day was it was chilly and too few sweaters were available.

If anyone got hungry there sure wasn't any need to stay that way. Chickens were barbecued over the charcoal pits by the hundreds, and pork chops cooking on another pit could be smelled for miles away. If you were really hungry you could have chicken corn soup, pickled eggs and beef sandwiches for dessert.

It was a really big Agricultural Show. Plans for next year's event to be held in Somerset County have already started. When I think of the amount of work involved staging one of these productions I'm glad my turn was completed last year at Windy Hill Farms.

Thursday I had lunch with a Mr. Jim Vessey, who's retired from the Federal Forest Service, but still engaged in the business of caring about the world and the people who live in it. He's interested in having folks become involved in the Pennsylvania Forestry Association. It's more than just an organization of people who are concerned with trees. Jim feels that the Association needs to grow because it's becoming a leader in "environmental protection and wise natural resource use."

"Since 1886 this Association has been dedicated to conservation and the wise use of our forests, which now cover over 60 per cent of our State. We have broadened our concern for development and protection of our total environment, and have thus become a citizens organization that really cares for our natural resources and our environment." That's what it says in the book. And what is there that's any more important than this? Even the young folks seem to go along with the establishment on this one.

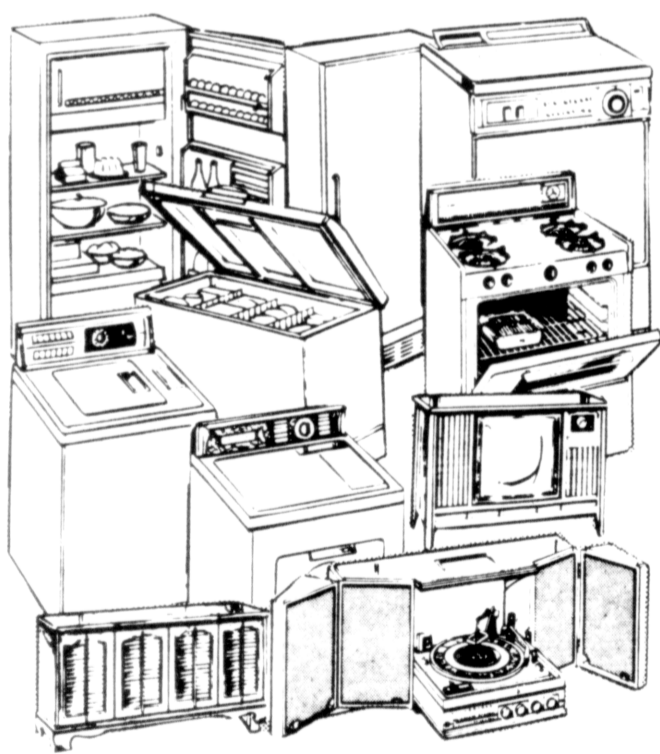

You'll be hearing more about this outfit in the weeks to come. Jim will be inviting some of you to a talk session in October to hear the complete story from A to Z. I hope you'll hear him out.

One of the most valuable things we enjoy is being able to contribute something. The Presbyterian preacher told me that was so! When we begin to realize we're really part of a human community we find some satisfaction in paying our way. It always seemed to me as if there's something futile about anyone who is satisfied to fill immediate needs and meet immediate demands. If we look back over the past several thousand years we begin to realize that all that has happened has been preparatory. Now it's our turn to carry the ball. And right now the popular thing to do is to be ecology minded. The great thinkers and the students of the land figure they have latched onto a "NEW TRUTH." It's not so new—The Pennsylvania Forestry Association has been talking about conservation and wise use of land since 1886! Urban man is just now catching up, not leading the way.

warren's active hobbyists

By PERRI FOSTER-PEGG

On some balmy Sunday afternoon when you might by chance happen by Warren's airport field, you might notice a few distant humming specks in the sky. Inadvertently, you have stumbled across a group of what may very well be Warren's most active hobbyists—the model airplane enthusiasts.

Not joined together by any formal rules and regulations,

ON THE COVER

In the process of assembling a model airplane, veteran flier Fred Maier and his son, Rod, 423 Conewango ave., check here to see if a piece of balsa wood is the right size for the bottom of the plane's fuselage. When completed, the plane will be radio controlled—the direction and speed can be altered by a hand-held radio transmitter on the ground.

these eight to ten Warren men come from diversified backgrounds and professions and join together almost every Sunday to fly and exchange tips about their common hobby, according to Hal Wightman II, 113 Jackson ave., one of the group's strongest members.

Each man owns from one to seven model airplanes that have been assembled from kits or plans, or bought already assembled, and which are completely flyable. At the airport field, which Wightman states has "the nicest model airplane facilities in western Pennsylvania," the men fuel, start and pilot their planes into graceful and thrilling flights.

Fueled by methyl alcohol and lubricated with castor oil, the planes cost anywhere from $30 to $40 if handled by a control line and, for the cheapest, radio controlled plane, about $100. Radio controls, consisting of a receiver and a transmitter can be exchanged from plane to plane and cost about $200 to $250, Wightman added.

Making a sizable amount of noise on the ground, the planes controlled by radio are bird-like and maneuverable once in flight and are handled by a lever on the transmitter much like a "joy stick." This lever controls the flying surfaces and causes them to change, thus directing the plane.

Once in the air, after either a regular take-off along the airport landing strip or a hand launching for a glider, the radio controlled planes can do anything a regular plane can do, another member, Dr. Dennis Jackson, 6 Fourth ave., stated.

These stunts may be anything from flying in wide circles up to altitudes where the planes are only distant specks in the sky to loops and dives and the final graceful landing which requires much skill and practice.

Surprisingly, model airplanes have been known, under well supervised and restricted conditions, to fly at speeds over 200 miles per hour and up to altitudes of 29,000 feet, according to Jackson and Wightman. They emphasized, however, that these records occurred in commercially

ADJUSTING THE THROTTLE

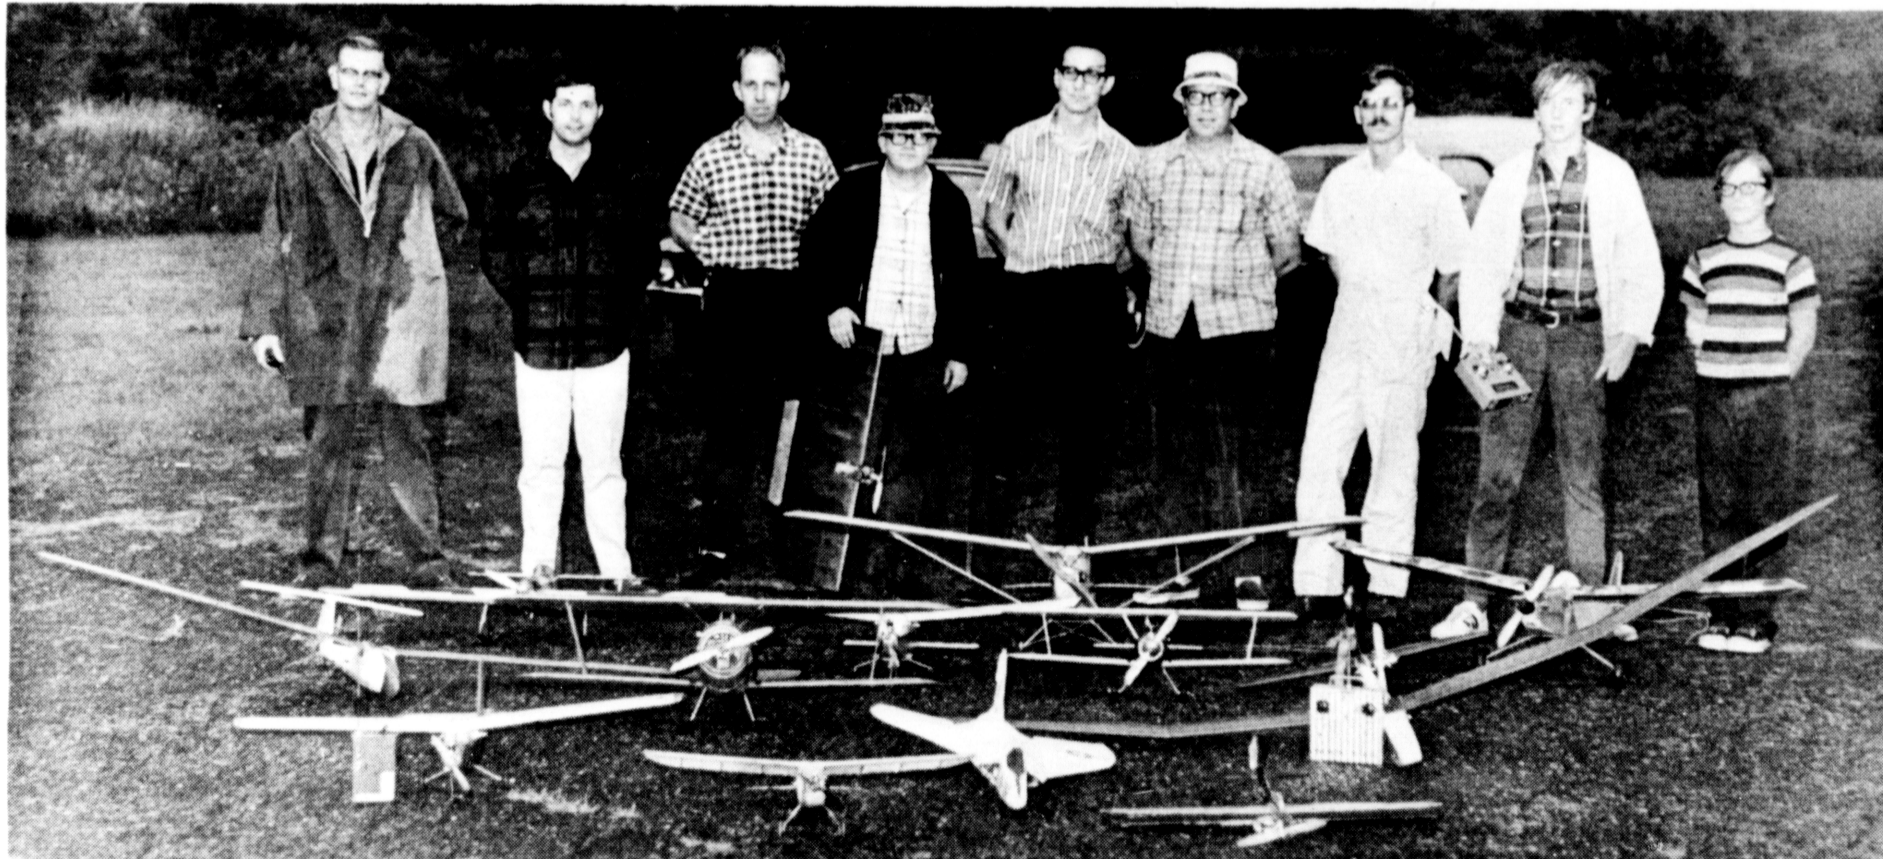

Jack Zwald, formerly of Ridgway, and a new-found member of the club shows here how the air-intake can be adjusted to make the engine run fast or slow. The wings on his well constructed plane are silk covered.

ACTIVE MEMBER

Hal Wightman II, one of the model airplane enthusiasts' most active members, fuels his radio-controlled glider with methyl alcohol and prepares it for flight. The wings on the plane are covered with monocothe, a substance that can be applied with a hot iron.

VETERAN FLIERS

The above men are all model airplane fliers and enthusiasts who assemble every Sunday on the airport

restricted areas and under strict surveillance, with naval radar tracking and approval of the Federal Aviation Commission.

The hand-controlled planes, guided by two control wires which connect with the plane's tail and rear wing flying surfaces, fly at speeds up to 50 or 60 miles per hour, Wightman explained. Being nearer to the ground, they are much louder than the radio-controlled planes but only fly for five to ten minutes before the fuel runs out.

In the larger cities, Wightman shouted over the noise made when the members met recently for an exhibition, mufflers can be purchased which quiet the engines considerably in the heavily populated areas. On the airport field, however, distant residences are not bothered by the roar.

He then demonstrated his flying skill with a sail glider, a beautifully constructed plane with wings covered with monocoate, a substance that can be applied with a hot iron. Extremely light, with an eight foot, four inch wing spread, the glider is launched by hand with its motor running.

After four minutes or so, at an altitude of 600 to 800 feet, the engine runs out of fuel, cuts, and the glider is on its own, directed by radio and lifted by air currents. Its wings are constructed in such a fashion that Wightman has trouble keeping it low since it is a natural tendency to rise.

Without a motor, 45 minutes has been Wightman's record of continuous flight. "The challenge is to be able to find the rising air currents which keep the plane in flight," he said. An experienced flier can usually tell just by looking at the plane where these "thermals" are, Dr. Jackson stated.

Other types of planes flown by the model airplane hobbyists are the free flight planes and the self-propelled gliders. Free flight planes, operated without direction, have a 10 to 15 second motor which helps them to rise up in the air. The flying surfaces on the planes are adjusted so that once the engine cuts, the plane flies in fairly large circles and, hopefully, not too far away.

Wightman's record for a hand-launched glider, which are small and resemble slightly a child's toy, has lasted 45 seconds. "Although 45 seconds doesn't sound like much," Jackson stated, "it's really a lot." He explained that the gliders are thrown into the rising thermals which are, on a warm day, often located over newly plowed fields, road surfaces and roofs.

"Some people smoke," he said, "and when they blow the smoke out, they can detect the rising air and then launch their planes into them."

Model airplane enthusiasts must have a license from the Federal Communications Commission in order to operate planes with radio controls. For this reason, three of the Warren fliers are members of the very active Jamestown Model Airplane Club, which holds such a license.

Due to this affiliation with Jamestown, members of that club often come down to Warren on Sundays to fly, since the facilities at the airport are much better than those in the larger city.

According to Wightman,

TAKE-OFF

Here Rod (r) and Fred (L) Maier direct their plane to a successful take-off with Rod at the radio-controls. Rod Maier, 15, a soap-box derby winner three years ago, has been flying for a year. His father has been working with gas powered model airplanes since he was Rod's age and enjoyed rubber-band powered planes and gliders several years before that.

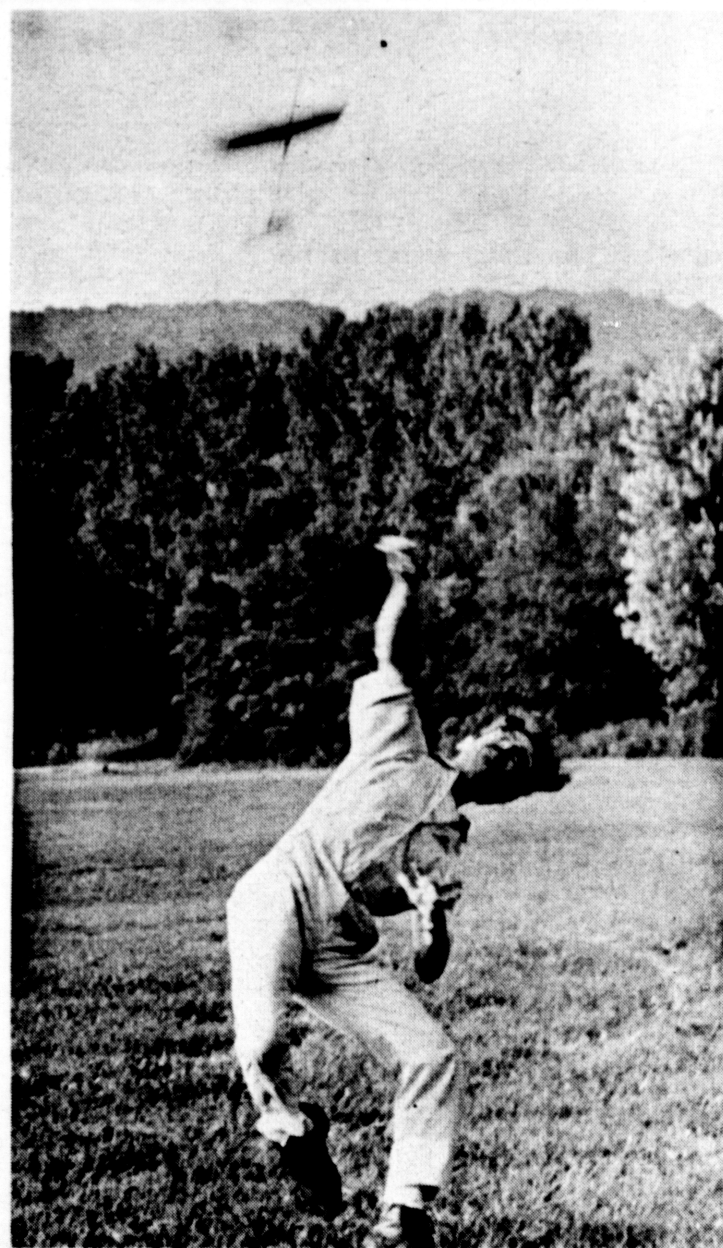

about 30 people can share a FCC license which has 15 different frequencies set aside for radio-controlled flying. He stated that even though the range is "out of sight," in order to operate a plane efficiently and safely, a flier has to be able to see it. Since there are 15 different frequencies, it is possible for 15 men to fly at one time at the field.

Another license advisable to have in order to fly model airplanes, is one offered by the American Model Association. This ensures the flyer against accidents which may do damage to himself or others. However, accidents like these have not happened in Warren, Wightman added.

In order to enter a model airplane in a competition, the AMA number must be visible on the plane, Wightman continued. Over the summer, he entered three such competitions but even though he did not place, he believes that he learned a great deal from the other participants.

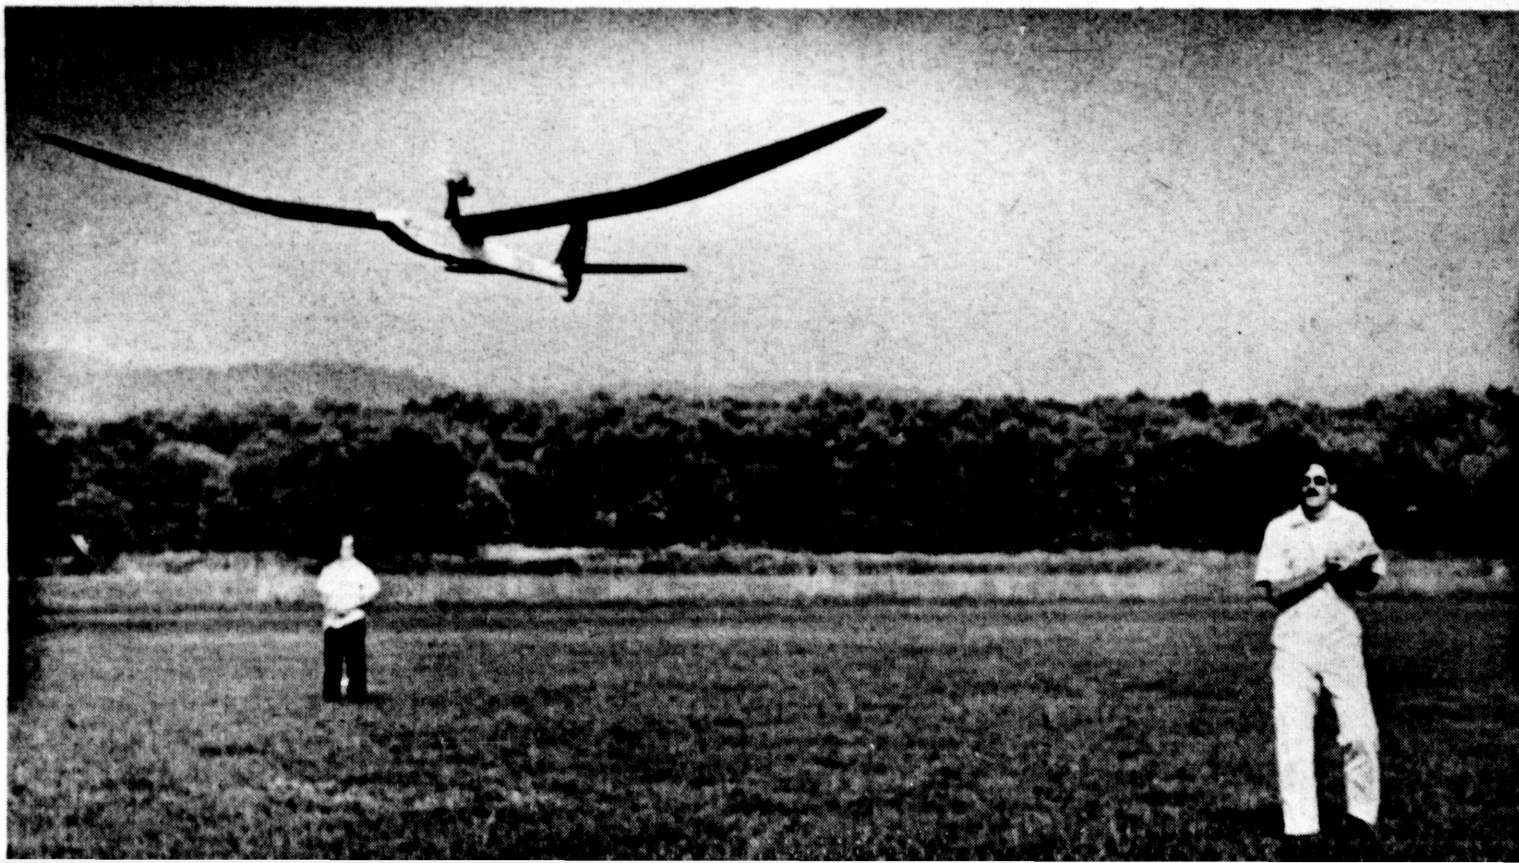

At one, the National Model

THERMAL TAKE-OFF

Hal Wightman launches his self-propelled glider into a thermal, or a rising pocket of air. The glider is then on its own, lifted and guided solely by air for as long as 45 seconds.

IT'S A BIRD

No, it's a plane guided by radio control by Hal Wightman at the airport field.

Airplane Contest in Chicago, Ill., sponsored by the United States Navy, Wightman took Rod Maier, 15, a young enthusiast, and they camped at facilities on the air base field.

He spoke for the whole group when he said he believes that many people in Warren have flown or have some experience with flying and are interested in the hobby. All, including youths who may have been given model airplanes as gifts, are welcome to come to the airport field any Sunday to fly and be taught by the group.

He explained that younger people especially could benefit from the hobby since they can learn from their mistakes and can also build and create entirely on their own. "A lot of projects end," he said, "but here, once a plane is built, it can be flown. When it breaks, it can be torn down and fixed and rebuilt."

"It's very difficult for someone to work up to the stage that we are in," he continued, "but the elementary can start and learn in a very short time."

For anyone in Warren, the men on the field demonstrated that building and flying can be a relaxing and rewarding hobby. Building alone and flying together, for the loner or the socialite, pride is the one word which describes how the men at the field feel about their creations and their art.

How to Keep Well By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

(c) 1971: By The Chicago Tribune

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PALPITATION

Many people develop short attacks of palpitation in which the heart seems to be beating hard. As a rule, the symptom disappears by the time they see the physician. But they can help the physician make the diagnosis if they count the pulse and note whether the beat is irregular or regular. It is also important for the medico to know whether the attacks start and stop abruptly or gradually.

Generally there is no need for concern when there are short attacks of heavy beating and the rate is not accelerated or irregular. In some instances, the individual is high-strung and so "heart conscious" that he is aware of every beat. The beating may be more violent than normal because of excitement, love or anger.

Heavy beating is more common after eating or drinking too much and more so if the individual is an air swallower. In these circumstances, the distended stomach pushes the heart against the chest wall. The manifestation may also stem from the demand for more blood in certain parts of the body. This occurs when fever, anemia, an overactive thyroid gland, hypertension or dropsy exists.

Palpitation may also stem from a rapid, but regular beat. In sinus tachycardia, the rate seldom exceeds 150 beats per minute. It is a gradual increase and usually tapers off in the same way. Coffee, alcohol, epinephrine and smoking may be responsible. Nervousness, emotional upsets, exertion and change of position may hasten the beat.

In contrast, paroxysmal tachycardia exists when the heart suddenly begins to beat like a trip-hammer and after a short time suddenly switches back to a normal rate. The changeover may be brought on by pressing upon the eyeballs or along the carotid artery in the neck.

To accurately evaluate rapid beating, whether regular or sporadic, may require an electrocardiogram. These evaluations include the fibrillations and flutters involving auricles or ventricles.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

DIZZY ON RISING

J. F. writes: Would low blood pressure cause you to get dizzy on getting up from bed and on bending over?

REPLY

Yes, especially when combined with poor circulation of the arteries of the brain. The trick is to rise slowly from bed and from the bent over position. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on low blood pressure.

SKIN CANCER

Mrs. J. writes: What is the best way to treat an epithelioma on the outside of the neck?

REPLY

These skin cancers can be removed surgically or by radiation (X-ray or radium).

WARREN SUB SHOP

FEATURING WARREN'S
FINEST SANDWICH

"A NEW TASTE IN A SUB"

315 Pa. Av., W. Warren, Pa.

The Cook's Corner

SPREAD A FEAST

By NATALIE WILLIAMS

One of the things we always keep on our emergency shelf is a few cans of deviled ham—and more recently, Underwood's chicken and liverwurst spreads. The deviled ham is a long-time favorite for a late night snack, for a quick sandwich spread any old time, for a cracker topping when unexpected guests arrive, for pre-planned very pretty party canapes.

There's so much you can do with these small cans, admittedly somewhat expensive but a great help to the hostess.

For instance, Totem Pole Sandwiches could be a real fun thing on almost any occasion. You could arrange them spoke fashion on a large platter or poke them into a pineapple or even into a flower vase—or whatever appeals to your imagination for the occasion of the moment.

Remove crusts from 8 slices whole wheat bread. Mix a family-size can of liverwurst spread with 2 tbsp. sour cream and 1 to 1½ oz. blue cheese; spread 4 slices generously with the mixture and cover each with second bread slice, then cut into 4 triangles.

Remove crusts from 8 slices white bread. Spread 4 with a mixture of liverwurst (same size can), 4 tbsp. minced celery, ½ tsp. horseradish, 1 tbsp. mayonnaise. Cover and cut into 4 squares.

Cut 8 slices pumpnickel with round cutter to make 4 rounds from each slice. Spread 16 rounds with mixture of liverwurst spread laced with 2 to 3 tbsp. red pickle relish and top.

Place 1 sandwich of each variety on a small wooden skewer, separating each with a cherry tomato, carrot curl, olive, radish, small pickle or other garnish. Makes 16 Totem Pole Sandwiches.

Or, for a cocktail party or shower, you might try Tea-Party Pleasers, a new twist in finger sandwiches.

Combine a family-size can of deviled ham and 4 tsp. frozen orange juice concentrate; chill. Combine 3 oz. cream cheese, softened, 1 tsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. finely chopped nuts. Gradually blend in 1 tbsp. orange juice until mixture is smooth. Trim crusts from 3 or 4 slices of white bread. Cut each slice into 3 fingers. Using a cookie press, cover each finger with alternate length-wise rows of deviled ham mixture and cream cheese mixture. Makes 9 to 12 fingers.

You can make 4 dozen colorful party canapes in no time flat while at the same time providing something substantial to go with the liquid intake. Ham and Cheese Curls are delightful.

Blend that family-size can of deviled ham with 1 tsp. lemon juice, 1 tbsp. minced green onions, ¼ cup cracker crumbs. Spread on 5 slices Mozzarella cheese and roll. Coat with paprika, wrap in waxed paper and chill. Thin slice and serve. Makes 48 curls.

For variations, place a pimiento strip on center of cheese slice before rolling or roll cheese slice in chopped parsley instead of paprika—or use pimiento cheese instead of Mozzarella.

How about something different for breakfast? It doesn't always have to be orange juice, toast, coffee, bacon and eggs. Use big rolls and make a breakfast sandwich. The kids especially ought to enjoy it and now that school's open you want to encourage the kids to eat a hearty breakfast.

Cut the crust from the top of 4 club rolls and scoop out the centers. Fit a slice of Swiss cheese into each and spread generously with deviled ham. Bake at 325 about 8 to 10 min. until rolls are hot and cheese melts. Meanwhile, beat 4 eggs with 2 tbsp. milk, salt and pepper to taste, and scramble in a small amount of butter. Fill each roll with scrambled eggs.

Speaking of breakfast—we're digressing on purpose—have you ever tried fried green tomatoes? If you haven't, you don't know what you've missed. The thought came to mind because the weather did us in. We've been looking at our tomato plants for what seems like forever and finding only great, big, beautiful tomatoes on them. Now, suddenly, red ones. In the meantime, fried green tomatoes. When you've got home-grown tomatoes, you aren't going to wait forever for them to ripen.

Here's two recipes you may enjoy. Both are Pennsylvania Dutch. Where our mother, a Marylander, ever got hers we can't recall—but we've enjoyed fried green tomatoes since we were knee-high to a toadstool as Mom used to say.

Dredge 4 tomatoes, cut into thick slices, with flour and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cook very slowly in a skillet with butter or margarine. Sprinkle each slice with brown sugar before and after turning. When tomatoes are lightly browned, add 1/3 cup heavy cream and cook until cream is heated and slightly thickened. Pour over tomatoes when serving.

If you'd prefer cooking them in batter, try this one. Thick slice 5 tomatoes. Mix 1 beaten egg and bread crumbs to form batter, thinning with a little milk. Sprinkle tomato slices with a very little sugar, salt and pepper; dip in batter and fry in deep, hot fat. Turn carefully and brown on both sides. Make a sauce from any broken tomatoes and crumbs left in the pan by stirring in a little milk and a sprinkling of flour, if needed. Pour the sauce over the tomatoes.

Back to the spreads. Here's a novel idea. Chicken Berry Sandwiches. And don't knock it until you've tried it. A man who reads our column faithfully told us that cucumber marmalade sounded awful. We told him the same thing—don't knock it until you've tried it.

Combine a family-size can of chicken spread with 2 to 3 tsp. horseradish. Lightly butter 12 slices toast. Cover 4 slices with lettuce, then with chicken spread mixture. Top with 4 slices toast spread with jellied cranberry, then with third slice toast. Cut each sandwich into 4 triangles. Makes 4 club sandwiches.

And we recommend Garden Fresh Dip, a dip with a different accent to serve with carrot, celery or cucumber sticks, green pepper strips or cherry tomatoes although it is also good with crackers.

Combine a can of chicken spread with ½ cup sour cream, 1 tsp. lemon juice, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ to ½ tsp. poultry seasoning.

Little Party Tarts don't always have to be on the sweet side and we're much in favor of serving something different. Here's how to make 3 doz. open sesame sensations.

Prepare pie crust, adding 2 to 3 tbsp. sesame seeds to mix. Chill and roll pastry into large rectangle; cut into about 3 dozen small (2 inch) scalloped rounds. Place each in a small muffin tin and bake at 400 about 15 min until golden brown. Cool and fill as follows: first a layer of cream cheese mixed with minced chives, a second layer of liverwurst spread, then a top layer of plain cream cheese. Garnish with almonds, radishes or olives.

Now here are two more good ideas for party fare—Snappy Ham and Egg Rolls and Holiday Hors D'Oeuvres. The holiday season will be all too soon upon us as we realize while looking out the window and seeing the goldenrod in clouds of color and notice that the migrating bird pattern has changed considerably.

Snappy Ham and Egg Rolls: Combine a can of deviled ham, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 1 tsp. prepared mustard. Shape into 24 small balls. Roll balls in crushed potato chips and serve on toothpicks to dunk in chili sauce or sour cream sauce.

To make the sour cream sauce, combine ½ cup sour cream, 4 tbsp. catsup and ½ tsp. seasoning salt. Chill.

Holiday Hors D'Oeuvres: Combine a 3 oz. pkg. cream cheese with a can of deviled ham and 3 tbsp. crushed pineapple. Chill. Turn mixture onto plate, form into a large ball and cover generously with chopped chives. Place small lighted candle in center of top. Serve with assorted crackers.

If you like stuffed eggs—we love them—here's a recipe with a difference, a deliciously spiced stuffing.

Halve 8 hard-cooked eggs lengthwise, carefully removing the yolks. Mash only 4 of the yolks and combine with 6 tbsp. mayonnaise, ¼ tsp. curry powder, ¼ cup minced celery, ¼ tsp. salt, 1 can chicken spread, salt and pepper. Generously refill eggs. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Cover and chill. Garnish with paprika. Makes 16 halves.

KNOWN FOR VALUES...COAST TO COAST

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1971

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — Don't skim over things superficially. This day calls for a real down-to-earth attitude. A good outlook if you help keep the picture thus, rejecting and accepting offers judiciously.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — Venus favorably aspected. Rewards for past efforts indicated, but you are enjoined to carry on as expertly as ever to assure more benefits in the future.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — There's more than one way to lick a difficulty or hurdle obstacles. You are adept at sensing a need for, and being able to switch quickly to, an alternate course: Be ready!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — An artistic touch can brighten some spots, a purely diplomatic one solve others. Whatever you do, do not argue "at the drop of a hat."

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Aspects are not entirely friendly, but instinctively you should be able to adjust. Compare all offerings discerningly. Weigh opinions, decisions carefully.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — Take time for careful reasoning. Don't make abrupt assertions and contradictions. The prudent, politic way is your best recipe for a successful day.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — An excellent spot in which to display your strength of character and your fine sense of justice; also, for a healthy interchange of ideas and discussion.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — You may face some resistance, blockades to progress that you may not have anticipated; but you can find ways to skirt them. Use your deep perception and will power.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — A show of strength is sometimes merely a "show." You can build more solid ground by digging for facts, hearing all sides, and BEING WILLING TO LEARN.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — You abhor discord but often do not realize what a big influence YOU can be in dispelling it. Try it and see. Avoid scattering energies, bickering, impracticality.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — You may encounter some "clouds" in the form of hardship, impasses, delays. All could lead to eventual good. Take benefits and bumps with equal aplomb.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Good Neptune influences. This is the time to speed up your tempo a bit—IF you keep strong control of the reins and do not take on more than you can reasonably handle.

Attention — Brokenstraw Valley Residents WISE UP! WHY DOPE?

The Pennsylvania Jaycees, the Brokenstraw Valley Jaycees and the churches of the Valley are happy to present the WISE UP! WHY DOPE? survey in our area.

When you receive your copy in the mail, you are asked not only to read over the survey but also fill it out. It will help us learn from each other and how better to help one another in this regard.

After you have filled out the survey you may return it to the Jaycees by placing them in the barrels for their collection at one of the following in Youngsville: Lind's Quaker Store, Pennsylvania Bank, Jones' Pharmacy, Warren National Bank, and Young's Furniture.

THANK YOU for your participation in this important project.

SOCIETY EDITOR

The Warren YWCA has mailed out its program for the fall season, 1971, and it looks as though there are some very interesting and fun courses available for everyone!

For example, Dr. Cyrus Lee, a professor of psychology at Edinboro, will be giving a series of lectures on Chinese Religions. His talks will focus on: religion as understood in the East and West; primitive and civilized religions in China; Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism; Western religions in China; Communism as a religion; and a lecture entitled, "Where Will China Go? A Religious Approach".

Dr. Roger Mesmer will be on hand again this year for a 4-week program especially designed for expectant parents. This class will meet every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m., beginning October 6. He will discuss: changes in pregnancy and labor; breathing and relaxation; nursing; and after the baby comes. The October 20 meeting is set aside for a visit to Warren General Hospital's obstetrical ward. All "waiting ladies" and their spouses are urged to attend this very informative series.

On the artistic side, Nancy Underhill, local artist, will be teaching Creative Stitchery. She will teach a creative approach to the traditional arts of applique, crewel and embroidery.

This is just a smattering of what is going on at the 'Y'. I will be describing some of the other courses available during this coming week. If you want further information, or a fall class schedule sent to you, contact the 'Y' office, 723-6350.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing about the lady whose husband ignored their son because he had a physical deformity. I am a 15-year-old boy and my father has ignored me for as long as I can remember. I don't know why. I was a normal, healthy baby and I was never any trouble to him.

I was always close to my mother. She took me nearly every place she went. I'm sure she did this to make up for my father who didn't play any attention to me. I spent so much time with my mother that I never learned to do things boys usually do, like play ball or wrestle or swim. I guess you might say I was a sissy.

Shortly after my ninth birthday, my mother died. Since then I've felt like an orphan. I have a hard time in school. I guess I need someone to be strict with me and tell me how far to go. My dad never sets any limits. He just ignores me and I do as I please.

The kid next door has a father who is very strict. I envy him although he complains all the time that he can't do anything on account of his old man. He doesn't know how lucky he is.

I don't know why I am writing to you except maybe to say you are sort of a substitute mother for me. I learn a lot from your column. Would you think I was crazy if I told you that sometimes I dream you are my mother? I think I'll sign off before you decide I'm a complete nut. Thank you for everything. —Johnny.

Dear Johnny: Yours is one of the nicest letters I've ever received. Thank you for writing. I'll see you in your dreams.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like an honest answer from you. My wife and I celebrated our 35th wedding anniversary last week. We have four married children. They all live in this city.

On that very special day we received a card in the mail—signed by all four children and their spouses. Is it petty of me to feel that they could have done a little more—such as sending a plant, taking us out to dinner, or having us over to one of their homes to celebrate the occasion? My wife didn't say much but she was unusually quiet and downcast the whole day. I took her to the finest restaurant and tried to make it a festive dinner but we both shared the unspoken thought that our children had let us down.

What do you say?—A Dad

Dear Dad: I say it's too bad when four children can't stir themselves to do something a little more imaginative than mail a card to their parents in honor of their 35th anniversary. Who raised those vegetables?

Lynne Gay McMillan Weds Barry Randall Munson

St. Paul's Lutheran Church was the setting for the August 14, 1971 wedding of Lynne Gay McMillan and Barry Randall Munson. The Rev. Carl E. Nelson performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Duane Johnston provided organ music. The altar was decorated with burnt orange and yellow daisies.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. McMillan of 101 East Wayne street, Warren, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Munson of 164 West Main street, Youngsville.

Carrying a cascade bouquet of white daisies with an inset of yellow roses, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a floor length gown of chiffon and reem-broidered schiffle on chiffon with Venice lace trim. The gown was fashioned with a mandarin collar, high rise waist, dirndl skirt with a detachable chapel length train, and bishop sleeves. Schiffle embroidery and Venice lace trim adorned the sheer chiffon yoke and enhanced the cuffs of her sleeves, was repeated on the front of the skirt and formed a panel on her train. Venice lace bordered the skirt and train. Her headpiece was a satin bonnet with matching lace and pearl trim and a three tiered elbow length veil.

Miss Judy Carlson was the bride's maid of honor. She was dressed in a gown of avocado chiffon over taffeta empire skirt with a beige linen bodice which featured brown, white and beige embroidered daisies in a vest effect. The gown was fashioned with long sheer linen sleeves. Her headpiece was an avocado bow and veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and burnt orange daisies.

Mrs. Aldie Azzaretto of Buffalo, N. Y. served as bridesmaid and was gowned the same as the honor attendant. The junior bridesmaids, Miss Cheryl McMillan, sister of the bride, and Miss Laurie Munson, sister of the bridegroom, wore gowns of chocolate brown empire skirts of polyester with bodices of beige voile with brown, white and tan embroidered daisies. Their headdresses were brown bows and they carried flowers matching those of the bridesmaids.

Miss Shelley Munson, cousin of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a beige voile empire waisted gown with brown, white and tan embroidered daisies. She carried a basket of burnt orange daisies with baby's breath.

MR. AND MRS. BARRY RANDALL MUNSON

The bridegroom's mother made the gowns of the junior attendants and the flower girl.

Nick Szeverenyi served as best man. Gary McMillan, brother of the bride, Dale Munson and Dan Munson, brothers of the bridegroom; Lynn Brennaman and Jay Hoy, Jr. were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McMillan wore a dress of champagne crepe with lace and brown accessories. Her corsage was made of burnt orange roses. The mother of the bridegroom chose a yellow and white knit ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of yellow and white roses.

A reception was held at the Pleasant Township Fire Hall for 250 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie D. Kellogg were in charge of the ceremonies. Aides were Miss Stephanie Mikan, Miss Carmella Fucillo, Miss Roseann Bryer, Miss Madge Kohut and Miss Sandra Maskas.

For their wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the new Mrs. Munson chose an aqua and white knit pantsuit with black patent accessories. Following their trip, the newlyweds will be making their home at 230 Seventh street, Apt. 3, Philipsburg, Pa.

The bride, a graduate of Warren Area High School and Clarion State College, will be teaching a trainable special education class in Philipsburg in September. Mr. Munson is a graduate of Youngsville High School and is presently a senior at Penn State University, majoring in computer science.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Alice Ulrich, Mrs. Hildur Bluckhorn, Mrs. J. Arthur Carlson, Miss Judy Carlson, Mrs. Jimmie Kellogg, Mrs. Bruce Harding. The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at the Mineral Well Restaurant.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE:

Being a school teacher, I have heard kids say some of the "darndest" things!

The one I remembered most was, "God gave us two ears and only one mouth, so listening must be more important than talking."

Kids are great, aren't they?

Mrs. H. M. L.

How true! Out of the mouths of babes . . . the truth so often emerges. Bless you.

Junior Exhibitors Urged To Join "On Safari"

Young Patrick Conarro and Jeffrey Tranter are wondering if elephants really like daisies or do they just like to sit among them? ... guess that was Ferdinand, the Bull who liked to sit and sniff the posies!

The elephant, the giraffe and even Dr. Doolittle will all be a part of the Junior Division of the 14th Annual Flower Show, "On Safari", September 9 and 10! Mrs. John Crone and Mrs. David Winans are in charge of the Juniors this year and announce there are four classes in the Horticultural section as follows: Class 51, One Annual or Perennial, one bloom or spray; Class 52, Three Annuals, different types, one bloom each; Class 53, Collection, Three Vegetables; Class 54, Three Wild Flowers, different types one bloom each, labeled.

Three classes make up the Artistic Design section as follows: Class 55, Wild Kingdom, An appropriate arrangement using all fresh cut flowers and plant material. To be placed on table; Class 56, Lunch With Dr. Doolittle, Lunch for four on child's tea table using suitable arrangement of fresh cut flowers and plant material; Class 57, Terrarium, To be placed in glass container using accessories, small types of ferns, moss, and other low-growing woody material not found on the conservation list.

The Junior Exhibits will be displayed this year on the stage of the Woman's Club. General rules in the adult schedule are to be followed, however, all junior entries will be divided and judged in age groups 6-9 years and 10-14 years. The Junior Achievement Award may be awarded in the horticultural or artistic design section of the Junior Division if the judges feel it is eligible for presentation.

Children are encouraged to enter the Flower Show and should bring their exhibits to the Woman's Club Wednesday, September 8 from 7 to 9 p.m. or Thursday morning, September 9 from 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

CD of A Hold First Meeting

Catholic Daughters of America, Court Warren 834, held their first meeting of the year Wednesday, Sept. 1, in St. Joseph School social rooms, with Grand Regent, Mrs. Charles Gray, presiding. Routine reports were given by the recording secretary, Mrs. Richard Bloss, and treasurer, Mrs. Dan Doherty.

Mrs. Gray will attend the Regional Workshop for all Catholic Daughters of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Michigan, W. Virginia, and Ohio, with Pennsylvania serving as Hostess Court. It will be held at Hotel Webster Hall, Pittsburgh, Sept. 24-26.

Members are encouraged to subscribe to the magazine "Share", $1.00 per year, and may do so by calling Mrs. Dan Doherty or Mrs. Patrick Kavinski. The magazine is published under the direction of the National organization of the Catholic Daughters of America, New York, N. Y.

Announcement was made that a membership drive is now in progress and will continue until the end of May, 1972. Members may obtain application forms from Mrs. Charles Gray. Mrs. Rose Miller reported that the Senior Study Club is again asking for white material (sheets, pillow cases, men's shirts, also colored sheets) for making cancer pads. Although she received a generous amount of material recently, Mrs. Miller stated they can always use these items, and may call her, phone 563-9867, to arrange for pickup.

The card shower for this month will be held for Mrs. Clara DuMond, 210 Jackson ave., Mrs. Daniel (Mary) Lucia, 1307 Penna. ave. w., and Florence Scalise, 316 Laurel st. Tentative plans were made for a rummage sale to be held sometime in October, details to be announced.

The attendance award was won by Mary Come. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Michael Pastrick and her committee. The next meeting will be Wednesday, October 6.

Open House To Honor Newlyweds

An Open House will be held to celebrate the marriage of Hazel Johnson, formerly of Jamestown, New York, and William Kunselman, which will take place on Saturday, September 11, 1971.

The affair will be held at the Kunselman residence, 12 Church street, North Warren, on Saturday evening, September 11, from 7 to 10 p.m. It is being given by the bride's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sandeen of Warren, and the bridegroom's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Liberatore of Rochester, New York.

Watson Grange Meets

Master Guy Wilcox opened Watson Grange in full form with the opening song, "The Quilting Party."

John and Marcellus Hagerman were balloted on and found favorable. It was reported that Sister Mabel Wilbur received the Fifth Degree of the Order at New London recently.

In the May issue of the National Newsletter received by the Master, there was an article entitled "Dig a Well for Bobby". Watson Grange felt this was a very worthy cause and sent a check to the family. The secretary received a communication telling what has been done to help this family, and the members of Watson Grange feel proud to have been able to assist in this cause.

Youth Grange bowling will start on September 12 at 2 p.m. at Riverside Lanes. There will be a work bee at the hall on September 18 and 19 with a picnic on the 19th. It is hoped that all members will participate at least one day. The members decided to form an installing team and will be available for anyone wishing their services. Robert Hollabaugh won the pig in the poke. Sister Freida Dyson was reported to be on the sick list.

The following officers were elected and will be installed on September 23 at the regular

First United Methodist Church

Time To Get Involved

By Rev. Jack E. Spencer,
Pastor

First United Methodist Church

When was the last time someone asked you to join his organization? Most of us are painfully aware of the staggering number of organizations and institutions that are clamoring for our interest, support, and membership. We belong to professional organizations, service clubs, social groups, labor unions, societies, hobby and special interest groups, bowling teams, cultural and religious groups of all kinds. It goes without saying, we are the most membership-conscious people in the world. Pick up any copy of Who's Who in America and you will be amazed to find that more space is devoted to the groups to which a person belongs than the accomplishments he has made.

Some of the organizations we join are optional, others are required. Some groups are rewarding, others burdensome. There are those which are inclusive and openly seeking for new members, and those which are exclusive and limited in their membership. Irrespective of age or station in life, all of us are confronted with the making of a choice to join or not to join.

Belonging to a group makes us marked persons. By our membership in certain organizations we are accepted or rejected, admired and respected or scorned and condemned. Membership in certain organizations helps us in living, others hinder us. To join or not to join -- that is the question. And that is the question that is of essential importance to the Christian in relationship to a local church.

Membership in the Christian Church in some denominations is not an optional matter -- one is a member by virtue of his baptism. In others it is optional, but even in those churches where membership is automatic by the sacrament, there comes a moment to decide at the time of confirmation: Will I or will I not accept the privileges and responsibilities of membership in the Christian Community? In this day and age, you must decide whether you want to be identified with Christ and his church. Membership does not mean names on roll books, it means a way of life, a witness, an involvement in vital Christian Living.

To be a member of the Christian Church is the acceptance of privileges and sharing the responsibilities for the life, witness and service of Christ in our day. There is no greater, more helpful, more significant cause with which you can be related. Are you a member? Now is the time to get involved.
